The 'Why' of Ike's Popularity

President Dwight D. Eisenhower's popularity with the average citizen continues high.

Why? A great many professional soothsayers skilled in the not-so-gentle art of politics have sought answers to that question. So have psychologists and professors trained in the knowledge of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings."

Now, to be sure, Mr. Eisenhower cannot have been otherwise than privy to this. Mr. Adams discusses all matters with him, being his assistant. It is inconceivable the two could be in disagreement about this line of attack.

The Heights

Yet, when Mr. Eisenhower was asked about it in his press conference he "declined to join with his chief assistant in recent broad criticism of Democratic congressional leadership."

Now, to be sure, Mr. Eisenhower later on may well have been closeted with Mr. Adams, assisting his chief hatchet man in sharpening his axes, or at least looking on admiringly.

It may seem, and is, paradoxical, but he apparently is sincere in this attitude and somehow sees no contradiction in it.

His cabinet, his political advisers, and his associates in general can, and do, carry on bloody political strife, wait in ambushes, set traps for the unwary, and otherwise seek to decimate the Democratic opposition.

Maddening

But what is frustrating in the extreme is to have the President lift himself to the high ground of a sort of Olympus where only he dwells and to say kind words to the maimed and wounded, and eulogies over the dead.

But neither does he lift a finger to stop it. So, it both maddens and frustrates the opposition that the President, if not actually "in" on the planning of the raids and ambushes, sees no contradiction in refusing to join publicly in approval, and in privately giving the green light to his associates and assistants.

Anyhow, the public sees only the kindly man who is "above" the muddy bickering of political brawling.

The President has a natural instinct for the homely things, and for greeting children. His smile is infectious. He is the eternal duffer at golf, the spiritual member of the foursome struggling along over the scuffed fairways of a well-worn public course. He is sincere in his frequent public mention of religion and the need for more of it. And he is, in fact, a "good man."

There is increasing evidence he depends more and more on staff, and makes very few decisions. His great personal popularity does not seem to have any intense qualities such as were in the public feeling for some of the presidents before him who also enjoyed great popularity. It is almost a passive popularity but apparently a stubborn one.

The people seemingly view him as an Olympian, far above the madding crowd, who never dirties himself with "politics"—who will not join, publicly, with Sherman Adams.

All this adds to the Democratic frustration—they knowing a more bitter truth.

Stevenson Warns Dixie Bolt Would Ruin Democrats

By M. L. ST. JOHN

KINGSLAND, April 5—The South would destroy the Democratic Party if it should walk out this year, Adlai Stevenson said Thursday.

While some national figures in the Democratic and Republican parties have made statements discounting the influence of the South, the vacillating Stevenson, seeking to be the Democratic party's standard-bearer again this year, continued to emphasize the importance of the South to the Democratic party and of the party to the South.

A WARNING

While Stevenson does not foresee any third party, he warned against the effects a third party would have on the South and on the Democratic Party if it should develop.

"It would be unmitigated disaster," Stevenson asserted. "If the South should leave the Democratic Party because of a civil rights dispute."

Then he said: "If the South left the Democratic Party, the Democrats not only would lose this important election this year, but the party would be injured for years to come. The Democratic Party would be destroyed as an effective instrument of the liberals and of the people's government."

"By turning to a splinter party, the South could only lose its prestige in Congress, prestige it holds with influential Democratic leadership from the South."

GOP WOODING

As for the Republican appeal to the South, Stevenson said: "Certainly the South can expect no more sympathetic view of its problems from the Republican Party than it is getting from its own party, the Democratic Party."

Here, the Democratic candidate again hit at the Republican administration's "poor treatment of the South."

Wm. H. Bolte Of GM Dies Here at 62

William H. Bolte, 62, manager of the General Motors Assembly Plant at Doraville, died Thursday night in a private hospital.

Mr. Bolte, who lived at 3680 Peachtree Rd., had served as manager of the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant since 1947. He came to Atlanta from Linden, N.J., where he had been production manager in another B-O-P plant.

He first joined General Motors in 1913 as an hourly rate employee in the Chevrolet Motor Division's plant at Bloomfield, N. J. and was promoted to assistant foreman. He was later named an assistant plant superintendent at Chevrolet in Flint, Mich.

In 1927 Mr. Bolte joined General Motors' Export Overseas Division and served in Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

Then followed various executive positions at Baltimore, Norwood, Ohio, and Flint, Mich., leading

State To Aid Expressway Work By Helping To Buy Right-of-Way

By ALBERT RILEY

The State Highway Board moved Thursday to expedite completion of Atlanta's downtown Expressway connector by agreeing to help buy the right-of-way. This agreement was announced by the board following a conference with a committee of the Atlanta-Fulton County Joint Bond Commission.

Col. Mose E. Cox, secretary-engineer of the commission, said that panel appreciates the co-operation of the State Highway Board.

The state also will speed construction of the Georgia avenue Expressway connector for which right-of-way has been acquired. The downtown connector, most important link, is under contract from Spring to Baker street.

Only about half the right-of-way has been acquired, however, for the remaining two-mile stretch southward to Richardson street. According to Col. Cox, the last estimate placed the cost of right-of-way for this link at around $7,000,000.

There was no announcement as to the extent of the state's participation in right-of-way acquisition.

The procedure followed in most of the Expressway financing to date has been for the city and county to acquire the right-of-way with bond money with construction costs paid for by the state and federal governments.

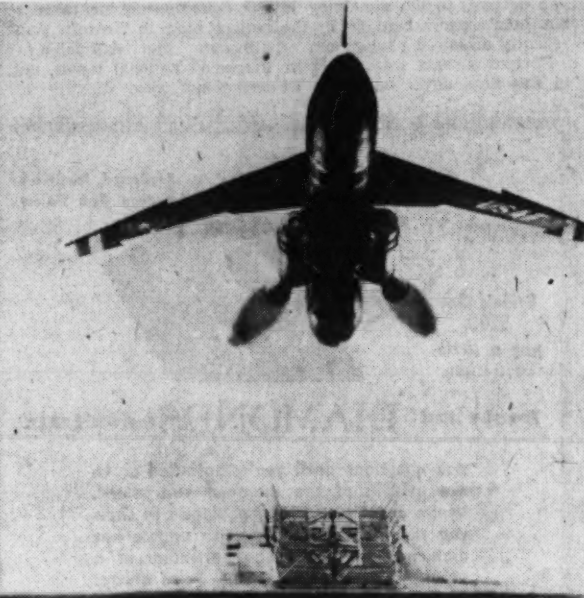

Final estimates on construction costs of the downtown connector have not been completed. It will tie the north and south legs of the expressway together and per-

Pack of People Hunt For Lost Bloodhound

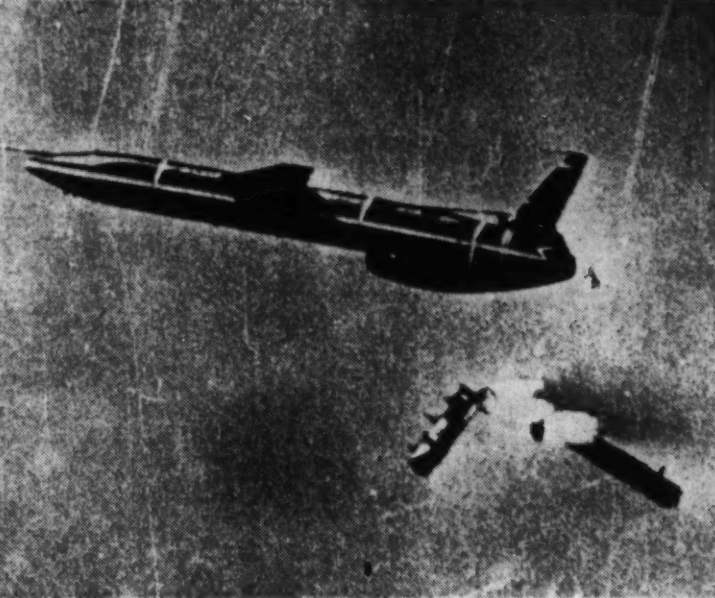

BATON ROUGE, La., April 5 (AP)—Ever hear about the bloodhound that got lost and a pack of people went hunting for him?

It happened here when a bloodhound helping Sheriff Bryan Clemmons track down a robbery suspect got lost. Special Deputy Joe Sharp said the animal was a 70-pound red male answering to the name of "Red." Anybody finding "Red" is asked to contact the sheriff's office.

On yes, the suspect got away, too.

U.N. Halts 10-Hr. Gaza Battle; 42 Arabs Killed

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

TEL AVIV, Israel, April 5—A cease-fire arranged by United Nations officials tonight appeared to have ended a flareup in the Negev.

Agreement between Egypt and Israel halted 10 hours of fighting along a 10-mile front of the Gaza Strip armistice line. A United Nations source in Jerusalem said the Egyptians reported 42 dead and more than 100 wounded on their side.

(In a report to the U.N. Security Council, Egypt said 33 civilians were killed and 92 injured. Egypt also said seven Egyptian soldiers had been wounded and that the attack had been started by Israel.)

NEGOTIATED ON SPOT

Army headquarters here said Israeli casualties were four soldiers and two civilians wounded, one seriously.

The cease-fire was negotiated on the spot by Col. Robert Bayard of the United States, chairman of the Israeli-Egyptian mixed armistice commission.

The incident, in which artillery, mortars, machine guns and rifles were used, was particularly dangerous in view of Israeli complaints that Egypt was massing troops and newly-acquired Communist heavy armaments in the Gaza Strip.

NO INCIDENTS

The U.N. source said the cease-fire was to have become effective at 6 p.m., but that shooting continued for another hour. Neutral U.N. observers on the spot have reported no incidents since 7 p.m.

The request for a cease-fire was made by the chief of staff of the U.N. truce supervision organization, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, as reports came in of firing all along the Gaza Strip armistice lines.

Says Avondale Mayor Made Offer of Car

CHARLOTTE, N.C., April 5 (AP)—

Carl Henry Woelfel, charged with soliciting a gratuity while post engineer at the Charlotte Nike plant, testified in U.S. District Court today that he had been offered one and turned it down in disgust.

His testimony contradicted that of Leroy Potter, mayor of Avondale Estates, Ga., and salesman for the Southern Wood Preserving Co. of Atlanta. Potter said yesterday the 65-year-old Woelfel had asked him for a present of an automobile as "a small token of appreciation" for a business deal, last January.

Woelfel testified that after Potter found out he was going to get the flooring contract, Potter said, "We're very appreciative. I'm going to ask my company to increase this contract $5,000 to give you a Cadillac."

Woelfel testified that he replied, "Why not make it a yacht?" He commented, "I was disgusted with the whole business."

Dulles Calls In Bohlen on Anti-Stalin

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, April 5—Charles E. Bohlen, U.S. ambassador to Moscow, is coming home this weekend to join in a high-level reassessment of Soviet policy in light of the current campaign to discredit Stalin.

Bohlen, now vacationing in Austria, is expected to spend a week or 10 days in Washington, the State department said.

At the same time, the department announced that Ambassador George Wadsworth will fly home from Saudi Arabia for consultations on the Middle East.

SOVIET PENETRATION

Officials indicated that they would discuss with Wadsworth not only the forthcoming negotiations with Saudi Arabia for renewal of the U.S. lease on the Dahrhan air base, but also the whole range of questions raised by Soviet penetration of the area.

Lincoln White, State department press officer, tried to discount the news of Bohlen's return as a routine matter.

Pressed by reporters, White conceded that there might be some connection between the new policy line laid down at the 20th Communist Party congress in Moscow last month and the ambassador's return.

CAUTIOUS IN DISPATCHES

Bohlen has been cautious, in his dispatches from Moscow, not to jump to hasty conclusions about the meaning of the turnaround in Soviet policy.

Most of Bohlen's time in Washington will be spent with subordinate officials of the State department responsible for analyzing Soviet moves and motives.

The State department wants the ambassador's personal observations on such questions as these:

Why did the Soviet rulers decide to attack the "cult of personality" and then Stalin by name? Where is this campaign likely to lead them and what risks does it entail? Does it portend revolutionary changes in the Soviet system or merely a tactical shift? How should the United States react?

WSB Invites Tours Of Its New Home

The public is invited to inspect the new home of WSB and WSB-TV beginning Monday.

John Outler, general manager, said special tours of the building for groups may be arranged by a telephone call to the station.

Dedication ceremonies will be on an invitation basis and will be televised at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. A private party Saturday afternoon will open festivities.

Tag Airport Expansion at $14 Million

By HERMAN HANCOCK

A proposed $8,000,000 improvement program for the Atlanta airport may develop into a $14,000,000 project.

Airport Manager Jack Gray and Mayor Hartsfield said Thursday that airline operators are urging an expansion to accommodate airlines of the future, including jets, and also to double the number of positions for planes to load and unload at the giant terminal.

RAMP SYSTEM ASKED

Gray said the number of positions required was first estimated at 30, a restudy has raised this to 60. A ramp system has been proposed for loading the huge airliners.

In addition, the Civil Aeronautics Authority, which ordinarily matches local sponsors' funds on a 50-50 basis, may demand more approach clearance and even more length for runways before approving installation of aprons which would surround the new terminal.

The project is still being negotiated, but city leaders are convinced the original program must be expanded. They added that increased revenue should provide the city's share if revenue certificates can be issued for 25 or 30-year periods.

PLANS RESTUDIED

Hartsfield said the whole program is being reexplored in the light of new developments in the aviation industry and expansion of airlines. He emphasized that no definite conclusion has yet been reached, but that Robert & Co. Associates, engineers, are restudying the original plans with experts from CAA and the airlines.

"We know that whatever we do can be paid for from increased revenues from the field," Gray said Thursday.

Skies Expected To Clear Tonight

Atlantans can expect the rains to stop and skies to clear early Friday night after showers and occasional thunderstorms during the day, the Atlanta Weather Bureau predicted.

Saturday is expected to be fair and cooler.

Friday's predicted extremes are a high of 72 after a low of 52. Saturday's extremes are seen as 62 and 50. Thursday's were 65 and 55.

10,000 Acres Bought Near Dawsonville

By BOB SIBLEY

A joint project for development of nuclear-powered aircraft at new facilities near Dawsonville will be announced Monday by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and the Air Force.

The huge project will cost between 50 and 100 million dollars, The Constitution learned in Washington.

Described as "the most important step in aircraft history since man first flew," the project will have direct bearing on the first successful nuclear powered planes.

METAL SHIELD

Initial phases of the project will be confined to development of a lighter metal shield that will not become radioactive to replace lead shields now required for nuclear engines.

If scientists break through in the research for the lighter material, actual production of aircraft will take place at Marietta.

Some 10,000 acres of land have been acquired near Dawsonville for the new project, which will be jointly financed by Lockheed and the Air Force.

Initial operations will require some 200 scientists and maintenance workers. It is expected the employment will be increased substantially as the project progresses.

UNDERGROUND RAILROAD

Lockheed officials declined to comment on the project, but reports indicate the experiments will include the use of atomic reactors and possibly an underground railroad.

Significance of the Dawson County project is pointed up by recent Air Force experiments aloft with nonoperative nuclear

Loyalist Women Voters To Elect New Officers

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Remaining directors of the League of Women Voters Thursday called for an election of new officers April 25 and took a slap at recently resigned officials for what was termed a "smokescreen."

In a letter mailed to 1,100 members of the Atlanta League, loyal officials denied that any kind of "smoke" has been used by state or national leagues on the segregation issue.

"As you doubtless are aware, for more than five years, the membership requirements of the league have not contained a restrictive clause—a fact which the now-resigned 11 knew full well when they accepted nomination to office," the letter said.

(Eleven officeholders, including President Mary Richardson, resigned last week, apparently because the league voted down a membership restrictive clause.)

In order to carry out the principal purposes of the local league, new officials are needed, the letter said. Though league by-laws allow filling vacancies by board appointment, the remaining directors decided to call an election.

The letter urged suggestions for officers be sent to the board by April 10. The board will then prepare a slate to be voted on at the April 25 meeting, to be held at 10:30 a.m. in the auditorium of the Atlanta Public Library.

Acid Flung in Eyes May Blind Writer Rapping Labor Rackets

By A. H. RASKIN
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
NEW YORK, April 5—A thug hurled sulphuric acid into the face of Victor Riesel, crusading labor columnist, early this morning. The attack damaged both eyes, and surgeons are not sure whether they can save his sight.

The assault came without warning an hour after Riesel finished a broadcast condemning racketeering in the International Union of Operating Engineers. He believes his denunciation of convicted extortionists in the union provoked the attack.

U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams called the acid throwing a "black effort to intimidate witnesses" in his month-old investigation into industrial rackets in New York. He said the writer, whose column appears in The New York Daily Mirror and 192 other newspapers, already had given the Justice Department "important information" on gangster methods in the trucking and garment industries. The full facilities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the police department and Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office were mobilized to seek out the assailant. But his identity remained a mystery, despite the posting of $13,000 in rewards.

George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, expressed hope "those responsible for this nefarious crime will be speedily apprehended and punished." David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, voiced a similar sentiment.

ACID THROWN

The 41-year-old columnist, accompanied by an assistant, Betty Nevins, had just emerged from Lindy's Restaurant at 51st street and Broadway at 3 a.m. when a bottle full of acid was hurled across his forehead, eyes and nose. A slender, black-haired man in a blue and white lumber jacket stepped out of a doorway, threw the searing liquid, then walked calmly away in the direction of Eighth avenue. No one made any attempt to stop him.

Riesel, a pint-sized voluble man, with sandy red hair and a writing style that resembles Mickey Spillane, has received scores of threatening letters and telephone calls in the 14 years he has been hammering away at Communists and racketeers in labor's ranks. However, he has always treated such threats as the work of cranks and has refused to be deterred from his anti-racket activities.

FOLLOWS FATHER

His father, Nathan, was head of a garment union local in this city and an active fighter for clean unionism. The elder Riesel died in 1947 of injuries attributed to a beating five years earlier by underworld elements.

The Post Hall Syndicate, which distributes Riesel's column, said the writer was "carrying on in his father's tradition" in resisting the efforts of mobsters and Communists to entrench themselves within organized labor.

Surgeons at St. Clare's Hospital declined tonight to make any firm forecast on whether Riesel will keep his sight.

Dr. Gerardo Bonaccotto, chief eye surgeon, said it might be a week before an accurate judgment can be made.

GETS LIFE TERM — WHEELING, W.Va., April 5—Tommy Williams Jr., above, a 14-year-old twin who casually chewed bubble gum at his trial, today was found guilty of murder (first degree) in the death of David Powell, 9, a Cub Scout. A recommendation of mercy by the jury means a life sentence is mandatory. Asked how he felt, Tommy shrugged, "Okay."

Twister Lifts 100 Roofs as Students Pray

BRYAN, Tex., April 5 (AP)—A tornado struck this town at 3 p.m. today, unroofed more than 100 homes and destroyed half a dozen warehouses and other commercial buildings. No one was killed and no injuries were reported.

The twister narrowly missed Stephen F. Austin High School. Children there got on their knees and prayed as the twister smashed a three-quarter-mile-wide swath only a few blocks away.

Damage was estimated at well over a million dollars.

The tornado passed between Bryan and nearby College Station, home of Texas A&M College with 7,000 students. It did not strike the college.

Coalition Vote May Floor Ceylon's Pro-West Chief

By A. M. ROSENTHAL

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Friday, April 6—Ceylon's ruling party is losing the national elections to a coalition pledged to the nationalization of plantations and the ouster of the British from air and naval bases here.

Returns from yesterday's voting, the first of three days of polling for a new parliament, indicated an opposition landslide against Prime Minister Sir John Kotelawala's United National party.

Sir John's party arranged the voting so that "safe" districts would come up on the first day's balloting and start a bandwagon swing in its support. But the danger the prime minister now faces is that on Saturday and Tuesday, when the voting continues, the bandwagon will roll the wrong way.

Ninety-five seats are at stake and 16 are being conceded by both sides to the Tamils of Indian descent. Of the remaining 79 Sir John's party held 54 in the recently dissolved parliament. Forty-two seats were at stake in the first day's balloting. Of the first 27 decided, the opposition coalition won 18 and the government party only four. The rest went to independents, a splinter party and the communists who elected one.

Worst blow to Sir John's hopes was the fact that 17 government party members in parliament, including six cabinet ministers, were defeated.

The opposition party, called the People's United Front, is composed of a Trotskyite party, a strongly Buddhist group and a nationalist party called Sri Lanka (Ceylon Freedom Party).

Sir John is considered a strong friend of the West and is an outspoken enemy of communism. His defeat would be taken as a serious blow to Western prestige although the campaign was fought on national issues, not international ones.

Detroit Mob Forces Out Family Rumored Negro

By BEM PRICE

DETROIT, April 5 (AP)—Aged John W. Rouse bowed today to his neighbors' belief that he and his family are Negroes.

Rouse said he had decided to sell and move after a near riot by nearly 500 people last night on quiet, tree-lined Robson avenue in northwest Detroit. Two windows in the modest brick home were broken by rocks before police broke up the growing demonstration.

PRIVATE POLICEMAN

Rouse, a retired private policeman, insists that he and all of his family, wife, daughter, and two grandchildren, are white. The 70-year-old former watchman sold the house to the Belmont Subdivision Assn. for $18,500, a $2,000 profit.

Under terms of the sale Rouse has two months in which to move. In the meantime he has free rent. When the sale was completed a six-foot red-lettered sign appeared on the front lawn, reading, "Settled." It was taken down an hour later by the association. Police blocked both ends of the street, cutting off the steady stream of curiosity seekers who had been driving past.

"People think that (sign) means they're going to stay here," one member of the association said. Mrs. Rouse, also 70, cried, "How do they know we are Negro? They haven't even seen us. We didn't even get out here until after dark Tuesday. I think there is something very wrong. I could expect something like this in a foreign country."

YOUNGSTERS PLAY

While Mrs. Rouse talked, her two grandchildren, a boy 7 and a girl 10, were playing with a baseball in the backyard under police protection.

"You know how children are," she said. "They don't know about things like this and I couldn't keep them in the house all day. I did not want them in the front yard where the other kids could make hasty remarks."

GIRLS GIGGLE

Off and on all day little girls in Bermuda shorts and long hose passed in front of the Rouse house giggling and occasionally yelling, "There's a Negro in the crowd." Large numbers of teen-agers gathered in knots across the street from time to time while housewives sat on porches in the warm sun gossiping about the neighborhood affair.

Oddly, a reporter ranging the street could find no one who admitted having seen or known the Rouse family, but all insisted they knew they were Negro.

RACIAL UNIT

Sgt. Thomas Nickerson and Detective Ed Boggs, members of the Special Investigation Bureau which deals with racial problems, tried all day to trace the source of the rumor which set off the demonstration.

"As near as we can determine," said Boggs, "it started with the movers. One of the workmen moving furniture into the house told a boy, 'You ought to tell your folks there is a Negro moving in.' It apparently started from there."

The grey-haired Mrs. Rouse said, "I guess you know how all this started. I wish they had broken my dishes instead."

TRACE RUMOR

Boggs and the sergeant, in tracing the rumor, found it passed by word of mouth mostly from one agitated neighbor to another.

The two officers said that their investigation showed that both grandchildren were registered at birth as white. Rouse said he is part Cherokee Indian and that his wife is Scotch-Irish and French Canadian.

Flash Bombs Jolt 70-Mile Florida Area

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 5 (AP)—Blasts which jolted a stretch of Florida's West Coast last night were caused by photoflash bombs dropped by a jet bomber, military authorities reported tonight.

The bombs were dropped off Sarasota in an area used by the Air Force for emergency jettisoning of defective bombs. The shocks were felt along 70 miles of the coast.

No one was hurt and damage was limited to a few shattered windows in the Sarasota-Bradenton area.

U.S. Eager To Begin Arms Slash

Stassen Replies To Gromyko Quiz

By BENJAMIN WELLES
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
LONDON, April 5—The United States informed the Soviet Union today it is ready and willing to join in the first stage of an agreed world disarmament plan as rapidly as such a plan can be set up.

Provided a foolproof international control and inspection system can be created first, the United States is prepared to participate at once in "preliminary, partial conventional and nuclear disarmament," Harold E. Stassen, chief U. S. delegate, told the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

"REQUIRES YEAR"

Stassen cautioned it would take "more than a year" to carry out the first, cautious stage of any world disarmament program—even with genuine Soviet cooperation. His combined promise and caution came during the eighth of 16 current sessions of the five-nation subcommittee in which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada are represented.

This was the 77th meeting in 30 months since the United Nations directed the subcommittee to devise some safe, effective disarmament plan to break the 10-year deadlock since World War II.

REPLY TO GROMYKO

The U.S. offer to begin mutual disarmament as soon as effective controls were working, but then to progress cautiously for "more than a year" during the initial disarmament phase, came in reply to one of eight "intelligent and important" questions raised yesterday by Andrei A. Gromyko, chief Soviet delegate.

It was the first time the United States had tied itself, even conditionally, to any timetable for general disarmament, conference sources said.

Gromyko's eight questions delved into the heart of the 19-point first-phase disarmament draft treaty Stassen presented Tuesday.

Grace Cuts Down On Makeup Use

ABOARD THE CONSTITUTION, April 5 (AP)—Grace Kelly launched the wan look in midocean tonight. The center of all eyes as she sipped a Dubonnet on the rocks at the captain's reception, she wore almost no lipstick, no rouge, no eye makeup.

The actress was dressed from throat to shoes in beige. Her high-necked dinner dress was silk organza with a gold applique. Her slippers matched. And over her shoulders she wore a new sunbeam fox stole, which is mainly a beige color.

Catacomb Unearthed in Rome Is Adorned By Beautiful Biblical and Pagan Frescoes

By ARNALDO CORTESI
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
ROME, April 5—The discovery in Rome of a catacomb unknown to scholars was announced today by L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

It is a small catacomb 158 feet by 89 feet, but it is remarkable for the number and beauty of the frescoed paintings that adorn it. The Rev. Antonio Ferrua, a Jesuit, who carried out the excavations on behalf of the pontifical Commission of Sacred Archeology, did not hesitate to affirm that "nothing like this has ever been found in any early Christian cemetery."

As remarkable as the frescoes is the wide variety of subjects they represent. Some are from the Old and New Testament but some are frankly pagan. Others represent scenes of life at the time when the catacomb was decorated.

HERCULES DEPICTED

The pagan subjects include the labors of Hercules, and Cleopatra finding death by holding an asp to her breast. Archeologists made no effort to hide their amazement at finding such subjects chosen to embellish tombs of the early Christians.

The catacomb, not mentioned in any ancient text, is attributed by Father Ferrua to the early part of the fourth century.

The catacomb is situated alongside the Via Latina, a small street that in ancient times, as well as today, branched off from the Appian Way.

As usually happens in such cases, discovery of the catacombs was accidental. The ground subsided near Via Latina, revealing mysterious holes hardly big enough for a cat to crawl through.

CATACOMB RANSACKED

When the Vatican archaeologists entered the catacomb they found the whole place had been ransacked and all loose objects, if any existed, had been removed.

The frescoes from the Old Testament include: Adam and Eve expelled from the Garden of Eden; the flood in which God is pictured pouring water on the world from a window; a picture of Noah, and Lot fleeing from Sodom with his two daughters while his wife is turned into a pillar of salt. Also the sacrifice of Isaac (twice); Moses saved from the waters of the Nile; the passage through the Red Sea of Jews fleeing from Egypt (twice); Samson throttling the lion, and Absalom hanging from the oak tree.

Scenes from the New Testament are described as particularly beautiful. They include pictures of Jesus and the Disciples; Jesus seated between Peter and Paul; Jesus talking to the Samaritan woman; the Annunciation; the Sermon on the Mount, and the Resurrection of Lazarus.

Malenkov Jab at Pact Stirs British

Hangs War Slur on Baghdad Accord

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
LONDON, April 5—A "war alliance" rather than Egypt's purchase of arms from Communist sources is the cause of tension in the Middle East, Georgi M. Malenkov, Soviet minister for electric power stations, declared today.

Malenkov, also a Soviet deputy premier, asserted on the eve of his departure for Moscow that the people of the Middle Eastern nations long for independence and are entitled to choose their own foreign policies.

Malenkov did not explain what he meant by war alliance. But ruffled British diplomats interpreted his remark as an attack on the Baghdad Pact, which binds Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan to defend the Middle East against Soviet aggression.

Queried at a press conference on how he reconciled his protestations of the Soviet Union's desire for peace with the supply to Egypt of arms that may be used against Israel, Malenkov said: "We stand for the consolidation of peace in the Middle East."

These Russian reflections on the Middle East nettled the British. The government regards the shipment of arms made in the Soviet Union to Egypt as one of the prime causes of a swiftly deteriorating situation in the Middle East which may lead to war. In these circumstances Malenkov's

Wedding Guests Must Sweep Up Their Confetti

NOTTINGHAM, England, April 5 (AP)—The Rev. Tom Richardson said today people who throw confetti at weddings in his church hereafter have got to clean it up.

"Confetti throwing is a ludicrous custom," said a notice he posted in St. Margaret's Anglican Church. From now on, the vicar ruled, bridal couples who want to be showered with the stuff must:

Arrange for their guests to bring along brooms and dust pans to tidy up the mess, or Use some kind of vanishing confetti which will disappear after being thrown, or remarks are viewed as "pure hypocrisy" by officials.

The visitor began with a glowing report of his tour of British power stations, and reflections on the "wonderful" and "talented" British people and their "hospitable" country. He did not urge better Anglo-Russian relations, Malenkov interjected, with any idea of impairing relations between Britain and the United States.

For the last 40 minutes Malenkov answered questions from a polyglot group of about 200 reporters. Only once, when one asked Stalin's former lieutenant whether he felt any sense of guilt for his part in the purges, did Malenkov appear discomfited. His answer was that Russian leaders "always feel responsible for the shortcomings and errors which we have made, and we openly admit them to our people and this helps to rectify the position."

Democrats Predict Ike, House To Accept Revised Farm Bill

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
WASHINGTON, April 5—Democratic congressional farm conferees predicted today quick House approval of a farm bill that President Eisenhower will sign.

They displayed a jaunty attitude the wake of the President's statement yesterday that he would not insist on perfection in a farm measure. But they were divided on whether Republicans would move in the House to compromise the big issues of rigid versus flexible price supports.

The Senate-House conference committee put the finishing touches on their farm bill this afternoon. They will resurvey the measure section by section tomorrow and take a final vote on the catch-all bill that Secretary of Agriculture Benson vigorously opposes.

The one major provision unresolved was whether the administration's $1,200,000,000 soil bank should be compulsory or voluntary. Most conferees agreed the soil bank that would pay farmers to cut surplus-producing acres would be voluntary.

They said a mandatory provision in the Senate farm bill was designed as a penalty section for violations.

Let's Put 'the Plan' To Work at Once

Approval by 13 business, professional and civic organizations of a Central Atlanta Plan looking to the day when the city will have a million population comes none too soon. At the present rate of growth, that figure will be reached much sooner than anyone anticipated a decade ago.

The plan itself was prepared by the Metropolitan Planning Commission after many months of exhaustive study. It contains the practical ideas of professional city planners who hope Atlanta can avoid the mistakes made by so many other cities during their growth periods.

Implementation of the plan will cost a lot of money. But only through spending it can the growth be sustained and the downtown area be spared the deadly blight that already has hit certain areas. This blight will spread unless determined efforts are made to prevent it.

Perhaps the most important of all the plan's proposals has to do with redevelopment of the ring of slum areas surrounding the downtown section. These areas form a wall that tends to imprison downtown and prevents outward development. Unless they are erased, the city's future business growth must be more and more outside this wall.

If there is any question about the effectiveness of the plan it could be pointed out that lack of planning in past years makes it necessary to undertake these expensive projects today. It brings up the natural question, too, of whether it is actually conservative. Most of our planning of the last two decades has become outmoded before being put into effect.

More sidewalk capacity to take care of more people, more street capacity and parking facilities, more transit vehicles, more convention space—more of everything—must be provided. Intelligent handling of traffic through more use of transit, perimeter routes and expressways, fringe parking and shuttle buses are in line with future needs.

Atlanta is wise to look ahead in order to assure its future. And along with it, cooperative planning of development of the entire metropolitan area is needed. In that connection, it is encouraging to see plans for extending water mains in North Fulton from Roswell, including Alpharetta.

Without planning and a determined attempt to stay abreast of demand, Atlanta's growth will be limited. With planning, the city's future seems to be unlimited.

Adlai Is Right Again; Unity Is All-Important

With extremists vocally violent and poles apart, it does become, as Adlai Stevenson so properly says, extremely difficult to "fill the role of mediator for uniting this nation."

But, he continues, it becomes more and more important that it be filled.

"The hope that I could fill that role," he declared in an interview in south Georgia with The Constitution's M. L. St. John, "is the only satisfaction I get out of seeking the presidency again."

Unity of the North and South on the racial problem, unity of the Democratic Party and of the free world are his themes. He will hold to them no matter what the political cost. If it defeats him for the nomination, the loss well may turn out to be the nation's, not his.

"The fate of the world depends today on unity among Americans," he declared. "To have that unity we must settle the segregation problem peaceably and according to our law, our conscience and our religion. I believe deeply that there is this unity in America's heart."

"And I believe that no man, North or South, has any greater present duty than to help find the way to unite this nation and find the right answer to this problem."

No thoughtful citizen can deny the truth of these paragraphs. No American can be other than grateful there is a man to say them.

More Money Is Given For Poultry Research

An extra $238,000 has been earmarked for poultry research facilities on the campus of the University of Georgia in Athens, according to an announcement by Gov. Marvin Griffin.

The grant supplements the $100,000 appropriated by the General Assembly for research during the year by the poultry department at the College of Agriculture. It makes possible the construction of a new building on the campus for intensive study of the cause and cure of poultry diseases and inquiries into methods of making this important segment of the state's economy more profitable.

Promotion of poultry raising has made Georgia the number one producer of broilers in the nation. This relatively new industry has brought prosperity to any number of once depressed areas and is responsible for the addition of many millions of new dollars to the state's farm income.

The governor's grant is a wise investment, one that will protect a flourishing and well-established industry and encourage it to even further expansion.

Long County Complaints Deserve Investigation

The group of Long County citizens who are demanding a state investigation of reported widespread violations of state laws in the county deserve wholehearted cooperation. If lawlessness exists on the scale they are charging, it certainly deserves to be investigated.

Members of the Long County Good Government League, the group apparently is entirely sincere. The fact that they must call upon the state for help is an indication they feel it is now beyond local control.

Such situations are not new in Georgia. The Liberty County cleanup attempt is all too recent; in fact, the attempt is still going on.

The people ultimately are responsible for such situations and for cleaning them up. The fact that they can be cleaned up is being proved at Tallapoosa in Haralson County. Here the citizens took action before budding lawless elements had gotten completely out of hand.

The case of Phenix City in Alabama proves another point. For many years an apathetic, cowed and terrorized citizenry permitted organized vice and crime to become stronger. Lawless elements took over the town and the people found themselves helpless.

If Phenix City is to stay out of the clutches of organized crime in the future, its citizens must accept their responsibilities.

The voters, in the last analysis, have the means to keep such elements out of power. Failure to exercise such power is a condemnation of their judgment and of their citizenship. This is a particularly apt reminder at this time when local elections are being held all over the state. The best weapon is the ballot box.

Evidently the people of Long County are concerned. The Good Government League is calling on the state for help and such help as is possible should be forthcoming. They must remember, though, that prevention of a recurrence is within their own power.

Atom-Powered Aircraft May Be Built in State

Georgians are gratified at the news that Lockheed and the Air Force soon will establish at Dawsonville a project to develop nuclear-powered aircraft.

Not only will the project be an economic asset of importance, but it also will may give the state the distinction of achieving the first atomic-powered flight.

The company announced last year that it planned to move its design studies for nuclear-powered aircraft to Marietta. Since that time it has been known that a site for an unannounced purpose was being sought.

The extent of the development is still unknown but that it will involve expenditure of considerable sums of money and employment of additional people is certain. And since apparently it will be a privately owned facility by Lockheed assures us once more that this splendid concern expects to be in Georgia permanently.

The company only recently announced that it had let preliminary design contracts for an engineering building and laboratory adjacent to the present plant at Marietta. This indicated that Lockheed plans to be in Georgia for a long, long time.

Lockheed and Georgia get along well together and Georgia workers have proved they can build airplanes as well and as economically as those anywhere else. The combination surely could build the nation's first atomic-powered aircraft.

In the Rockmart Journal

Every issue of worthwhile nature, it seems, has to have its extremists. Being a moderate myself, I have little patience with radicalism and the same goes concerning the current racial issue which is blazing a trail in certain spots in the South today.

Most thinking people will do that which is right in due time, but there are many who would have the "applecart," so to speak, upset all at once.

If extremism could be removed from the racial picture, it is my opinion that the problem would be solved in a much better fashion, and the resulting overtones would certainly be more wholesome for both white and colored.

Retirement Villages Suggested as Answer To the Rapidly-Increasing Aged Population

Gadsden, Ala. — May I reach out through the medium of your newspaper to express an idea that has come to me recently?

It concerns homes for the aged, those who are about to retire and find themselves homeless; that ever-increasing army of old people who have spent their working years helping to build our great country to its high standards of living and through no fault of their own find themselves homeless.

But we can't boast of the world's highest standard of living so long as a great percentage of our old people live homeless and in comparative poverty.

We have millions of acres of surplus land (the U.S. government has at least 400 million).

So my idea is for the government to use this land or buy suitable land in five-acre tracts and establish "Retirement Villages," miniature farms of one or two acres depending on the quality and value of the land.

Build little cottages on the land of permanent, durable construction and lease these to retired couples for life at cheap rental rates. They could do whatever they chose; plant trees, gardens, or raise livestock.

This would give them something to do, add to their health and they could also raise part of their food to help supplement their pensions. I believe such "Retirement Villages" would be a tremendous asset to any community.

Synchronized Lights Deemed Advisable

Atlanta — Has anyone in the Atlanta traffic control department ever tried to synchronize the traffic lights here in any manner whatsoever? In most cities that I have driven in some attempt has been made to do this.

I can't understand why at least some sort of traffic light synchronization system can't be worked out.

Talmadge Is Advised To Remain in State

Bethlehem—The way events are casting their shadows before them, it looks as though the South will be offered another bitter cup at the Democratic National Convention.

Let us face it, we only have hope in our states rights laws.

According to Georgia law, former Gov. Talmadge can run for governor of Georgia again. I suggest that he do this and not get mixed up with the Washington crowd. We need him here in Georgia. MRS. GRACE EDWARDS.

Eastern Shore Is Rediscovered

SALISBURY, Md.—Turn a map of the United States sideways, facing the Atlantic, and you will see opposite Washington a hump-backed piece of real estate shaped like a dinosaur.

Folks call it variously Del-Mar-Va, the Delmarva Peninsula and the Eastern Shore. It is called Del-Mar-Va because it includes almost all of Delaware, more than a third of Maryland and two counties in Virginia. It is called a peninsula because it is. Eastern Shore comes from the fact that the rest of Maryland is to the west.

The eye of this peninsula shaped like a dinosaur is at Wilmington, Del., just above where the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal crosses the neck. The tail is at Cape Charles, Va., the tip being at a jumping-off place called Kiptopeke. From Wilmington to Kiptopeke is 200 miles.

Ocean surf washes the back of the dinosaur. The Chesapeake Bay bathes the underside. Salisbury (pop., 15,541) is about the center. It is the county seat of Wicomico County. In the Indian language, Wicomico means Yao-comico. When John Smith visited the place in 1608 he wrote it Wighcomico.

On the opposite shore of the bay is the site of St. Mary's where the colony of Maryland was founded. It all started when Sir George Calvert got a grant from the king to colonize in Newfoundland. Among the nobility George Calvert was known as Lord Baltimore. His lady made a certain kind of cake famous.

His lordship found Newfoundland soil too sterile and the climate too severe for his liking. He moved South, to Virginia. The Anglicans in Virginia didn't take to the man's Catholicism. Calvert switched to Maryland.

He went home and got title to Eastern Shore lands. The charter named these lands Terra Mariae, for Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I. But Terra Mariae was Latin. The settlers changed it to Maryland. Which was a good thing, for how could one sing "Terra Mariae, My Terra Mariae!"

Like Moses, Sir George Calvert stayed on the other side. His son Cecil came over and set up Maryland in 1634. He let people worship as they pleased.

I discovered the Eastern Shore on an auto ride to Salisbury from Baltimore with Marsh Gollner, theater owner and civic club enthusiast.

Marsh's daughter-in-law, Bobbie Wood Gollner, and his grandson live in Atlanta. Bobbie works for the Fulton Welfare Department. The son, husband and father was a Naval pilot, graduate of Annapolis, killed in Korea.

All Different Creeds Retain Basic Belief

An earnest young man came to see me the other day. He has attended church and Sunday school during all of the formative years of his life and he showed signs of having absorbed the finest teachings of religious tradition. He raised a question, however, which he felt that he must somehow solve. That question was threatening the entire basis of his spiritual life.

"Can you explain to me," he asked with a candid and transparent sincerity, "why there are so many churches and why members of one group criticize those who do not share their points of emphasis?" Then in a moment he added, "If there is one God, how can there be so many completely different doctrines?"

I warmed up to the youth's concern for questions which long ago I, too, asked and I did my best to point out the varieties of religious experience on the foundation of a common spiritual heritage and tradition.

My first step was to show that the many Christian groups in America are not quite as different as they may seem to him. Of course there are differing "labels," if I may use the word, even as families have different family names. The names suggest a variety of particular growths within Christendom, each having its specific patterns of thought and behavior.

But—and we ought all of us always to remember this — most Christians share most of the same beliefs. There is a great common ground of consent and assent.

What are these? First, all Christians believe in God as Eternal Father and Creator. Second, all Christians believe in Jesus Christ as the most perfect revelation of God and as the source of our salvation. Third, all Christians believe in the Holy Spirit as the living spirit of the Godhead in history and in our daily lives and as the life-giving power of God. Fourth, all Christians believe that man has sinned and fallen short or rebelled against God's will and is, therefore, in need of salvation. Fifth, all Christians believe in the life everlasting in which in God's kingdom the incompleteness of human life will be completed and in which all that which is really durable and good in our earthly lives will be perpetuated according to God's fashioning.

I told my young friend also that all Christians believed in the church, in some form of initiation into the church fellowship, in the Lord's Supper, in the Bible as a guide and inspiration and preserver of our faith, in prayer and worship and in the necessity of a world-wide outreach through missions.

My second step was to indicate the values found in the unity-diversity of Christendom and how differing expressions of faith tend to show the universal need of all men, whatever their temperaments, tongues or creeds, for God. God cannot be limited to a particular sect or group. Yet in each there are evidences of God's grace and in each an expression of man's response in love.

Reds Gain Ground In the Near East

WASHINGTON—It is difficult to taste and feel Soviet Communist propaganda, to measure its impact and ingenuity unless you can see it in operation on the spot.

Right now it is operating with concentrated force throughout the troubled Mediterranean area. Its objectives: to keep the trouble boiling and to back up Moscow's bid for economic and political penetration.

A report on how the Soviets have stepped up their propaganda in the short span of three months has just been prepared for the United States Information Agency by G. Huntington Damon, an assistant director and its top Near Eastern expert. Through a trip, from which he has just returned from Cairo to Amman and then to Damascus, Beirut, Baghdad, Tehran and Ankara, Mr. Damon got a firsthand view of Russian "public relations."

No wonder U.S. officials are anxious and uneasy. Here is what Mr. Damon found:

The Soviets have established two Communist-line publishing houses in the Egyptian capital. They have flooded Iran with Persian books on ballet, literature, children's stories and the like. They have nourished an indigenous Syrian press which controls at least two newspapers.

Perhaps the most smoothly-coordinated of all is Russia's roving technical mission, which so far has moved in on Lebanon, Syria and Egypt. The mission is a first-class example of coordinated play between Soviet diplomats, technicians, propaganda experts and Russian shippers.

Play No. 1 is a visit by the Soviet ambassador to the head of a Near Eastern state.

During his interview with the Lebanese president, the Soviet ambassador expressed his country's great interest in Lebanon's need for technical aid and industrialization. He held forth the promise of any kind of aid the Lebanese requested "with no strings attached."

Play No. 2: During the conversation the Soviet ambassador mentioned that a Russian technical mission "just happened" to be in Beirut and might be of assistance to the Lebanese government.

Play No. 3: Within a matter of hours a Russian ship steamed into Beirut harbor and unloaded a magnificent array of agricultural implements.

Should the Lebanese government prove wary of offers without "strings," the Soviets still have scored propaganda-wise: their ambassador's generous offer has been publicized. Their display of shiny machinery, certain to dazzle multitudes of Lebanese, has stirred popular feeling against a government which does not take advantage of such a windfall.

The Soviets are making headway, Mr. Damon believes, because they operate "least of all under their own banner, but rather by capitalizing on existing anti-Western or anti-colonialism sentiments, by playing up to Arab nationalism and adopting local slogans."

Kefauver Showing Worries Republicans

WASHINGTON—Sen. Estes Kefauver is beginning to haunt the Republican Party high command, though for somewhat different reasons than he haunts most leaders in his own Democratic Party who are against his nomination as candidate for president.

For Republican Party managers, the Tennessee senator has become an omen of trouble in the Midwestern farm belt. In no other way can they interpret the big vote this Democrat rolled up, especially in agricultural sections, in successive presidential primaries in two key farm states—Minnesota two weeks ago and in neighboring Wisconsin this week.

Newspaper and radio correspondents here saw what they interpreted as a sign of concern in the top of the Republican Party—President Eisenhower himself.

When he came to his regular news conference he had been briefed in advance on the Wisconsin primary where he, admittedly the most popular Republican President in this century, ran only four to three against the Tennessee Democrat.

The nearly complete count showed: Eisenhower, 426,408; Kefauver, 321,830; John Chapple, a Republican running as favorite son, 20,558.

At his news conference, the President hinted that he might sign the controversial farm bill which is now before a joint House-Senate conference committee and which hitherto has been the subject of heavy criticism from the administration.

Republican rural losses were somewhat offset by gains in urban areas, especially in Milwaukee, with the result that the over-all Democratic gain indicated in Tuesday's primary, measured in terms of the 1952 Eisenhower-Stevenson vote, was about 3 per cent.

Milwaukee is normally Democratic. The result there was surprising. Though the President lost the city to Adlai Stevenson in 1952, getting 48 per cent of the vote to the Democratic candidate's 52, his primary vote there Tuesday was well ahead of Sen. Kefauver's—146,814 to 118,257.

The bidding:
 South 1 spade
 West 2 spades
 North 4 spades
 East Pass
 South Pass
 West Pass
 North Pass
 East Pass

Opening lead: Jack of clubs.

There are card games in which some tricks are worth a great deal more than others. But in bridge, all tricks carry the same weight. The trump suit, however, seems to wield a strange hypnotic influence over many declarers. They don't mind losing a trick in a side suit, but it seems to be a blot on their escutcheon to lose a trick in the trump suit. Countless hands have been lost because of the desire to take an early trump finesse.

Today's bidding was brief and to the point. When South rebid spades, North having ample support for a rebid suit and the equal of an opening bid himself, quite properly went directly to game.

The jack of clubs was opened and won in dummy. A trump was led to the ace, the purpose being to postpone the finesse until the second round of the suit.

Declarer realized, however, that he was somewhat short of entries to the dummy, so he followed up with the jack of hearts. East permitted him to hold the trick but won the continuation with the ace and shifted to a trump. South changed his mind about finessing and went up with the king. Dummy was entered with a club and on the king of hearts, the losing club was shed. The diamond finesse was then tried and when West took the trick, he drew dummy's last trump. The total casualties were two diamond tricks, a heart and a spade.

The queen of spades should have been declarer's last concern. He should plan to lose at most a diamond, a heart, and a spade. On winning the club opening, the first play should be a low heart. The jack will win and the suit should be continued. East will presumably return a trump. Declarer wins with the ace and enters dummy with a club to take his discard. Now the diamond finesse is tried and even though it loses, the defense cannot prevent declarer from ruffing his losing diamond in dummy. If necessary the trump finesse can be taken at the end.

Blue Is Blamed in Andersonville Horrors

Constitution State News Service
 ATHENS, April 5—A University of Wisconsin historian has placed much of the blame for the horrors of the Confederate prison at Andersonville on the Union's own Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton.

Writing in the spring issue of the Georgia Review, literary quarterly of the University of Georgia, William B. Hesseltine says that the terrible conditions at Andersonville and other Southern prisons were partly the result of Stanton's outright refusal to exchange prisoners.

To forestall criticism in the North for a policy so devoid of humanitarianism, Hesseltine continues, Stanton made propaganda capital from the situation.

He calls Stanton's desire to protect himself from criticism the "animus" which lay behind the official atrocity propaganda about Confederate prisons and the trial and conviction of its commander, Captain Henry Wirz.

This trial, Hesseltine points out, "was completely swayed by the prevailing war psychosis. In its zeal to convict Wirz, it ignored the rules of evidence and suborned perjury."

"In the prison at Andersonville," he continues, "the prisoners generally blamed their jailors for the sufferings they endured. Some, however, correctly placed the ultimate blame on Secretary Stanton and solemnly bound themselves into an association pledged to assassinate the Secretary of War if and when they gained their freedom. Needless to say, the Wirz court failed to call any of these to testify. The Wirz trial, indeed, diverted attention from Stanton and fixed the blame, officially, upon Wirz and his fellow conspirators."

The Wisconsin historian does not excuse the conditions at Anderson-

The Old Men and the Tee

AUGUSTA, April 5—When word first reached the practice green at Augusta National Golf Club that Ken Venturi, aged 24, of San Francisco, Calif., had attacked the first four Masters holes with birdies, James Newton Demaret, aged 43, of Houston, Tex., was heard to observe:

"Wonder who'll be low pro this year?" It is no end significant that Demaret himself, as a three-time champion of the Masters, is partially responsible for the amateur Venturi being here. There's a special cell on the invitational list reserved for a player the past champions would like to invite.

Venturi is their guest this year. It's a noble gesture, for two years ago the young man finished in a tie for 16th place. He had qualified that year as a member of the Walker Cup team. He didn't get back to take his proper place in the lineup last year due to a previous engagement in Austria with the Department of Defense.

The Venturi performance, then, was one of a most thankless nature. The young man was a most hostile guest who seemed to have been prodded on by his playing partner, Billy Joe Patton. Venturi was here the year that Patton, who got into the Masters on the nearest thing to a pass, completely reorganized the world's opinion of Billy Joe Patton. The most astounding performance that ever took place in this royal event left him out of a three-way playoff with Ben Hogan and Sam Snead by one stroke.

The behavior of these two amateurs on opening day, 1956, was of a most belligerent nature. Furthermore, it violated the rules of the gentleman who only a short time before had said:

Demaret Went Fishing a Year Old

To a certain extent, the man was correct, though Cary Middlecoff, D.D.S., Snead, Hogan and Demaret are among those who probably won't appreciate inclusion in the fraternity. Actually, Horton Smith was 25 years old when he won the first Masters in 1934. He was only 27 when he won it a second time. Herman Kelsner was 29 when he won it in 1946.

Otherwise, all other winners of the Masters have been over 30 years old. Once this would have been a discouragingly old age to me. Today, however, I see no reason at all to consider a man over 30 as a fading trouper.

In the days that preceded the Masters, there was considerable warmth among the old pros—this is merely a figure of speech—for Demaret is a man who must be contended with this year. This seemed a rather large order for a man who wasn't here a year ago, and who had been run off the circuit for a spell by some ailment that hospitalized him.

I remembered, too, the Sunday morning in the clubhouse last year, while Middlecoff and Jack Burke waited for the final round. Burke had had a wire that morning from Demaret and he told Middlecoff about the gay air that prevailed in it.

"Where is he?" Middlecoff asked.

"He's fishing down off Port Aransas," Burke said. "He says he'll have to have a truck to bring his catch home."

I remember that I thought at the time how far away Port Aransas, Tex., seemed from the Masters for a man who had won it three times.

The Pros Like It Trickier

That was a particularly critical time for Demaret, for it was feared he was a very sick man. It turned out he wasn't. He missed only three months of competition, and the comeback this winter has been notable without sensation.

"This ought to be your year," Buck White, the Mississippi pro, said to him on the green, "ageless James Newton."

"I'm not ready yet," said the joshing James Newton. "I need another year of seasoning."

"Truth is," Demaret said later, "I wasn't off long enough to hurt my game. I didn't have much trouble getting back in tune. The main thing about getting ready for this tournament is getting your nerves in shape."

"It's a different kind of course today than we're used to. The rain slows it up. You can play it bolder with your irons. Most of the time the main problem is getting close enough to get down in two. You can go for closer today. That's the reason you'll see more low scores."

"Like it? No, I think most of the pros would like it trickier. It'll be a different course tomorrow, after they've put the rollers on the greens and packed them down. It's nice of all my kind friends to pick me to win it, but I'm not sharp enough yet. Tell them all their confidence is deeply appreciated, however."

So Venturi's score came in, a young man with a 66. There was a call for a show of hands of all those in the press tent who had picked Ken Venturi to win the Masters. There were none. Perhaps picking the winners is also a young man's game.

Indians Assign Seven Pitchers To Bears; Thumper Back in Lineup

Compiled From Wire Services
Norm Siebern, former Birmingham outfielder who starred for the Ft. McPherson Army team the past two years, has been named the outstanding rookie in the New York Yankee baseball camp.

Eight of nine writers covering the Yankees voted for Siebern. Jerry Lumpe, Birmingham shortstop a year ago, received the other ballot.

Siebern will receive a gold watch as the first player named for the annual James P. Dawson memorial award.

The 22-year-old outfielder copped the honor despite the fact he has been idle since injuring his right knee March 22.

MORE BASEBALL—Seven pitchers, including bonus boy Billy Joe Davidson, were assigned to the Mobile Bears by Cleveland. Davidson, a $75,000 disappointment who had a 6-4 record at Indianapolis last year, was the lone southpaw in the lot. Other players are Bill Dailey, Walter Kellner, Gene Lary, former Alabama ace, Don Nance, Bennett Smyth and Bob Yanen.

Yanks-Phils Today
Friday's baseball "Game of the Day" radio broadcast (WQXI-Mutual) will come from Mobile, Ala., at 3 p.m. and will pit the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies.

Ted Williams, who has participated in only five exhibition games, will start in most of the remaining 10, Boston Red Sox Manager Mike Higgins, said Thursday. . . . Billy Loos, Brooklyn hurler who has threatened to retire from baseball, entered Long Island College Hospital for a check-up. Doctors have been unable to determine what is causing Loos' arm woes. . . . Don Larsen, New York Yankee pitcher, paid a $15 fine in St. Petersburg traffic court as a result of his celebrated 5:30 a.m. crash into a light pole last week.

Venturi's Sizzling 66 Sets Pace at Masters

Middlecoff Opens Title Defense With 67; Mayfield, Bolt Share 68s; Hogan Fires 69

By BERT PRATHER

Constitution Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, April 5—Ken Venturi, who must have been inspired to it by the fact his playing partner was fabulous Billy Joe Patton, shot a brilliant six-under-par 32-34-66 to grab the opening-round lead in the 20th Masters golf tournament over shower-dampened Augusta National Thursday.

The round, lowest ever fired by an amateur in this great tournament, traditionally dominated by the big name professionals, gave the 24-year-old San Franciscoan a one-stroke lead over defending champion Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Middlecoff registered a 35-32-67.

Then came Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N.Y., with 68s. Ben Hogan, co-favored with Middlecoff and Samuel Jackson Snead, had a 34-35-69. Snead started with a creditable 35 on the front, but skidded to a 38 coming in for a 73, well down the list.

Patton, the Morganton, N.C., lumber company executive, proved himself a fine pacesetter for Venturi by shooting a 34-36-70 to wind up in a three-way tie for sixth place with professionals Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, Calif., and Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y.

Little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, Calif., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, were the others in the bulging group of 10 par-breakers. They had 71s.

Venturi, whose only other appearance here was in 1954, the year the rambunctious Billy Joe stole the show and almost the tournament, started with four straight birdies. He birdied the par-four first, sinking a 15-footer. On the long second he was on in three and sank a five-footer. A 12-footer fell for him at the par-four third and then on the 220-yard par-three fourth Ken almost aced the hole. His ball stopped about one foot from the pin.

His first and only bogey cropped up at 10 where his poor drive hit the timber. But Ken more than made amends for this at the 470-yard 13th by hitting a perfect four wood on 18 feet from the cup and sinking for an eagle three. Partner Patton duplicated the feat, slamming it on with a beautiful five iron and tapping in a putt of about 15 feet.

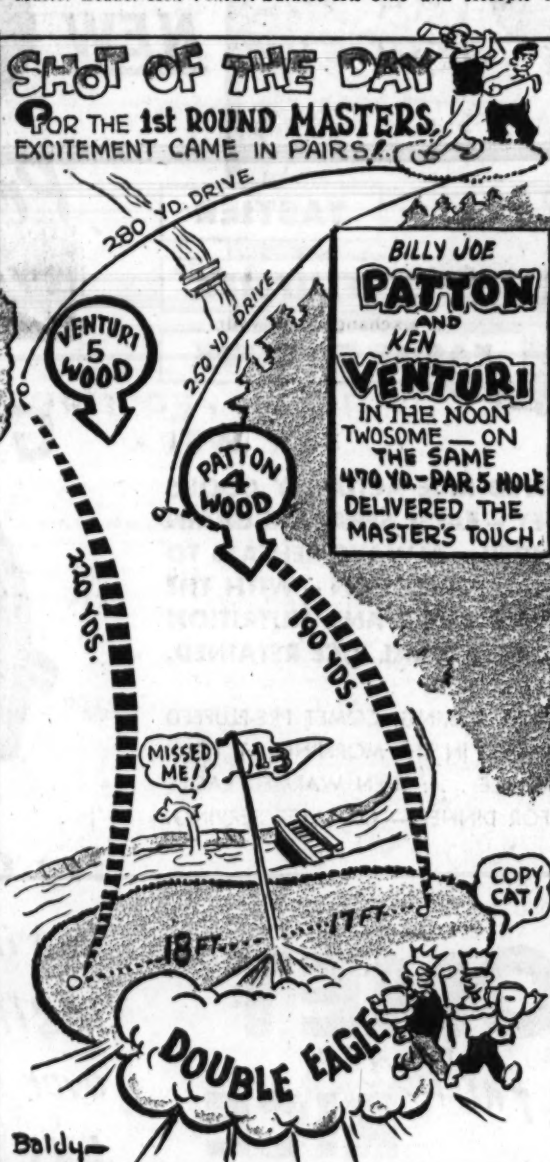

Ken went six under with a nine-foot birdie putt on the 190-yard 16th. By now, the amateur duo had gathered the biggest gallery on the course. The handsome West Coast star got a big hand as he holed out his last of 29 putts at the check-in point.

In the '54 tournament, Venturi, who was eligible by Walker Cup membership, shot a 297 to finish in a tie for 16th place.

RESTLESS SACKA MAY JOIN CRACKERS; KING TO OPEN WITH WILLIS AND BORING

By JESSE OUTLAR

After missing almost four weeks of spring training, catcher Frank Sacka, has already decided that he misses baseball.

The reluctant receiver, who retired in March, may report to the Crackers in April. At least that's what he told Earl Mann Thursday after the Cracker owner informed him that the door was still open at Poncey.

"There's nothing definite at the moment," Mann said after placing a long distance call to Sacka in Wyandotte, Mich., "but I wouldn't be surprised if he showed up."

Meanwhile, it is definite that pitching help will be delivered by Milwaukee. But, after a telephone talk with farm director John Mullen, Mann still doesn't know when.

Wichita Manager George Selkirk is jamming the works. He has more than 20 pitchers now, more to come from Milwaukee and still hasn't cut down.

Therefore, there's nothing Manager Clyde King can do but go along with what he's got.

Earl Mann Frank Sacka Chuck Cottier Sammy Meeks

After Thursday's exhibition game with the Third Army All-Stars was washed out, King took stock of the starting lineup he'll send against Birmingham Tuesday night.

The infield is virtually set. Paul Burris gets the catching assignment, with Bill Gable on first, Bob Boring on third and Bobby Willis at short.

And after all the hullabaloo over Frank DiPrima, the second baseman will decide himself whether he starts or not. If DiPrima's arm is okay, he'll play. If it's not, he won't.

If DiPrima is unable to answer the bell for his third Cracker campaign, rookie Chuck Cottier will be at second base. Bob Malkmus, who batted .474 in a brief bid for the job, was shipped to Austin Thursday. Catcher Mike Roarke, dropped off here by the Braves Sunday, got a ticket to Waycross at the same time.

Veteran Sammy Meeks, who had a cyst removed from his right hand Thursday, won't be able to play for at least a week. And the story is about the same as it was on the first day of training. Meeks is still the man in the middle. He'll play third or short, if Boring or Willis falters.

King said last winter that he'd go along with Willis, if the Atlanta hit .250 or more. He's batted .274 against spring pitching, ranging from the Braves to the Reds, and he's been more spectacular than ever with a glove.

Jack Daniels will be in center field when the curtain goes up in Birmingham's Rickwood Park. That's as far as King would go with the outfield. However, it's a good guess that Jim Frey and rookie Bill Robertson will man the other two slots. If the Braves start a southpaw, Dick Sinovic likely will replace Robertson.

Glenn Thompson already has been nominated as the opening night pitcher. If the strikeout ace distinguishes himself against the Braves, he may get the call in the home opener against Nashville April 13.

Rookie Bill Tosheff, who has yielded only five runs in 19 exhibition innings, will hurl the second game in Birmingham. Either Terry Fox or Dick Graubow will wind up the lifting series.

Thompson and Tosheff are booked for their final exhibition tune-ups Friday night when the Crackers meet Charlotte in Thomaston at 8 p.m. Single games with the Sally League club are billed at Poncey Saturday and Sunday.

Tribe Pitchers Starve Giants

NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (AP)—Hank Aaron and Bobby Thomson hit home runs to lead the Milwaukee Braves to an 8-6 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today. Rookie Charlie Neal and Roy Campanella also homered for the Braves.

Seven of the Braves' runs came off Carl Erskine to allow 30 hits in the first five innings. Charlie Templeton hurled two perfect frames and Bob Darnell gave up an unearned run in one inning for the Dodgers.

Lou Burdette started for the Braves and was driven over in the sixth as Brooklyn scored three runs. Red Murff retired Duke Snider with two on and allowed only Campanella's homer the rest of the way.

Cubs Rout Orioles

ALPINE, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Five Chicago homers, including two apiece by Ernie Banks and Clyde McCullough, spiced a 20-hit attack which swept the Cubs to a 16-4 exhibition triumph over the Baltimore Orioles today.

The Bruins' boisterous attack was against Jim Wilson, Harry Dorish and Hector Brown and gave the Cubs a 11-13 "Grapefruit" League record.

Russ Meyer, the ex-Brooklyn

Dodger hurler, became the first Cub regular moundman to go the nine-inning route, yielding seven hits.

Reds Edge Senators

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (AP)—Johnny Temple rapped out a ninth inning single to score Roy McMillan today and the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Washington Senators again today, 4-3, at nearby Camp Gordon.

The Redlegs were behind by a 3-0 count as late as the last of the seventh. Then Bob Thurman came through with a two-run homer. In the eighth a single by Gus Bell, an error by Pitcher Ted Abernathy and Ray Jablonski's sacrifice fly scored the tying run.

Littlefield Shines

HOUSTON, Texas, April 5 (AP)—Kansas City got only two hits off Dick Littlefield and dropped an exhibition game to Pittsburgh, 6-1.

Littlefield retired 12 straight batters before Suitcase Simpson homered in the fifth inning. Simpson also got the only other hit—a scratch single—off Littlefield, who struck out eight in his 8-inning stint. Nelson King retired the A's in order in the ninth.

service last fall, Venturi again put his game in Nelson's charge. And among those not surprised at Ken's great play here Thursday is Lord Byron himself. Ken is married and the father of a three-week-old son.

He recently defeated Harvie Ward, the present U.S. Amateur champion, for the San Francisco Amateur title, 5 and 4, but despite this Ward has been installed a heavy favorite to take the amateur trophy here. Ward, former Atlantan, got off to a shaky 38-38-76 start.

Middlecoff's front nine was more or less routine as play went Thursday. He bogied the par three fourth hole, missing the green on his 220-yarder. But Cary got back even with the card by sinking a 12-foot birdie putt for a three on No. 5. A six-footer gave him a duce at the sixth hole and he made the turn in 35.

After paring the 10th, Middlecoff laid one up two feet from the cup on the 11th for a bird and sank a 15-footer for a birdie four on the 13th, after playing his second shot because of a bad lie. His longest putt of the day, a 22-footer, fell into the cup on 14 for his birdie three. Cary then made it four birds in a row by getting down in two after reaching the 520-yard 15th hole with his second. He made the rest in par to wheel it home in 32 for the back nine.

Middlecoff said the course was playing easier than he had ever seen it. A drizzle rain, which was on and off all day like a spigot, made the greens exceptionally slow. Middlecoff was extremely pleased with his putting.

Hogan had 15 fours and three threes on his card—not a single five. He birdied the long second, trapped himself on the par-three fourth to take a bogey and then picked up two straight birdies on the seventh and eighth. On the seventh he tapped in a lengthy one of about 20 feet, while a six-footer dropped for his four on eight.

On the back nine, Ben was on 13 in two and two-putted to pick up his bird. He also shaved a stroke off the par-five 15th-sinking a seven-footer. His foot slipped as he hit the par-three 16th and he bunkered the ball, winding up with a four.

Ben's putting was definitely not up to scratch Thursday, but even so he's in a good spot with three big rounds coming up. He missed at least five good birdie putts and could have easily had a 66 had they been dropping as of old.

Hogan is not too enthused about his chances, however. He told some scribes after the round, "I can't win this one."

The only other time an amateur ever led this tournament was in 1954 when Patton took the 36 hole lead with a 144 after sharing the opening round leadership with pro Dutch Harrison at 70.

ATLANTA BOWLS

Wilman Takes Firing Line Here April 16

By MORT PERSKY

Lady tenpin tumbler like to teach beginners how to bowl. Men prefer to learn themselves from those who know more than they do.

Or so it seems at least. The Atlanta Women's Bowling Assn. has planned a booster's tournament for the weekend after this one, and the Atlanta and Marietta Men's Associations have arranged to inspect Joe Wilman, an Illinois capsize who holds more American Bowling Congress records than any other living man.

On April 15th, the Booster's tournament for non-licensed lady bowlers and beginners (Booster's Tournament booster Estelle Gray says the AWBA has adopted a start-em-young policy and especially encourages teenage beginners) goes on at Buckhead.

Meanwhile the Kitchen Klub League bowlers, their own season over, have invited beginners to learn from them 12:30 p.m. Thursdays at the Palace alleys.

Joe Wilman, who had the unique experience of cutting a string of 45-600-series with a 599 score, faces a unique test at Buckhead. On Monday, April 16, he's matched against Atlanta's George Brunt on alleys that have diminished many an average. His Buckhead test is at 6:30, and at 9:30 he'll move to Marietta's fast Larry Bell lanes for a match with George Graham.

MORE TENPINS: Bob Hankey of Marietta is the Georgia Tenpin Association's new president, and his home town will be the site of next year's tournament. . . . Atlanta's most prominent bowling combine, Southern Latex, will be publicly overwhelmed Saturday night at a Mammy's Shanty testimonial dinner. . . . Lou Allen made a clean sweep of first-place trophies in Atlanta General Depot's Enlisted Men's League with a 169 average, a 613 series, a 246 game. Glenn Everhart's 167 average and 223 game and R. C. Coffey's 559 series were runner-up totals. . . . Arntson stands first in the Keglerette competition and Margaret Engelhardt pinfalls, a 181 game and 499 series, were high for the week. . . . Buckhead's Miller team swept into first on Dorothy Vidal's 206 and 470 in a match that saw them win two of three from Dutch Oven. And Parks Dairy, using Gert Kepler's 431 and 180, took third place with a three-game sweep. . . . Monday 500's: Spencer O'Neil 515, Sam Brown 519, Harold Jones 534, Ray Gough 539, Charles Hartridge 548, Ralph Brunt 520.

Pony Leaguers Pick Canton for '56 Meet

By MICKEY LOGUE

A quick look at what's happening on the Georgia junior baseball front reveals:

(1) The Pony League, which furnishes horseshide action for boys 13 and 14 years old, recently selected Canton as site of its 1956 State tournament.

(2) Rome, host to the "best regional Little League tournament in the country" last summer, will be in or out of a repeat role for '56 pending a meeting of city officials and a national representative there Saturday.

Rome's J. Walter Ransom, Georgia director for both organizations, Thursday night said the Pony showdown gets under way at Canton the week of July 16.

Newnan, Marietta, Smyrna, Canton and Rome definitely will compete in the double-elimination Canton tournament.

Because of transportation and other difficulties, present plans call for Augusta's entry to play in a South Carolina meet and Tifton's lads to enter the South Alabama playoff. These plans are subject to change, however.

Nineteen new inquiries and 10 applications for membership to Pony play have been received by Ransom. Rome boasts the two-time defending champions.

Al Houghton of Williamsport, Pa., secretary-treasurer of Little League Baseball, Inc., Ransom and other Rome officials meet at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Chamber of Commerce to settle the location of the regional tournament. The Georgia State finals are already set for Macon.

Teams from Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky, North Carolina, Florida and Tennessee played in the Region 5 tournament for eight-to-12-year-old sluggers last season.

National Little League moguls called Rome's 1956 regional tournament "best in the country."

Joey Giambra 7-5 Choice

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 5 (AP)—Buffalo's Joe Giambra, hoping to spring back into the middleweight title picture, was the 7-5 favorite today to beat England's John L. Sullivan in their 10-round fight tomorrow night.

Sullivan wants a return fight with Rocky Castellani, who handed the hard-punching Englishman his only defeat in four recent fights in this country.

Giambra, long a fixture among middleweight contenders, was ranked fourth when he went in the Army for a two-year hitch that ended last December. He had five fights while he was in service, the last with then-champion Bobo Olson in San Francisco last summer. Joey made a good showing and had a contract for a fight with Olson for the title.

Then Sugar Ray Robinson came to the peak of his comeback trail and knocked out Olson to win the title. Giambra's title contract became just another piece of paper.

Champs in June Bout

MILAN, Italy, April 5 (AP)—The 10-round nontitle bout involving Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati, world lightweight boxing champion, and Duilio Loi of Italy, the European titleholder, will be held here either the night of June 15 or the afternoon of June 17.

SOUTHERN PREVIEW

PELS BANKING ON ROOKIE BRIGADE

By BOB ROESLER

Times-Picayune Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (AP)—If you could get a look at Andy Cohen's New Orleans Pelican lineup for opening day against the Mobile Bears, you probably would see question marks at first, third, shortstop, catcher and the mound.

For Cohen, the former New York Giants infielder, the well-worn gag, "Who's on first?" isn't a laughing matter.

The Birds have been training at Huntsville, Texas, with about 50-odd prospective players going through the paces. And if a half dozen of them stick around for opening day on April 10, Cohen will have migraine headaches.

Of course, he just might have to go to the post with a wet-behind-the-ear lineup, for Joe L. Brown, general manager of the parent Pittsburgh Pirates, recently said the Pels shouldn't expect any help from the Bucs.

"You'll have to depend," warned Brown, "on your help coming from our Hollywood (Coast League) farm. As it stands now, the pitchers and outfielders with us will be around for a while."

Andy Cohen

About the only near-ready spot is in the outfield. Back for another shot with the Pels is Johnny Powers, who played half of the '55 season with the Williamsport, where he hit .309. Also back is Ray Swarts, who played centerfield here last year.

Swarts, however, may be asked to play third base this year, because there just isn't another third sacker in camp. The third outfield candidate is Emil Panko, who came to spring camp heralded as a home run producer. But after a few weeks temperamental E m l packed his bags. Someone lured him back into camp and he's been performing well.

At first base is promising, but untested Dutch Van Burkleo.

Earl Weaver, who was the sparkplug of last year's infield, has the second base job all to himself. Dick Barrone looks like the shortstop. Dave Jacobs is the utility man.

Lenny Yochim and Don Urquhart comprise the pitching staff. Yochim won a dozen games last year as a Pel. Urquhart, used mostly in relief, quit the team at midseason and went into retirement. Len is on the injured list at camp but Don has been doing extremely well. One of the two will open against the Bears.

Harry Fisher, pinchhitter par excellence a few years back, is back in camp as a pitcher-outfielder. He also figures to be Cohen's No. 1 pinch hitter.

Another big change in the Pelican operation is their new general manager, Vince Rizzo, former scout for the Chicago Cubs. Rizzo was Pel GM during the prosperous years that followed World War II.

Another new addition is Larry Gilbert, one of the league's outstanding managers and front office men. Larry, who was part owner of the Nashville Vols until last season, returns to the club he helped win many pennants in the 1930's. He's on the board of directors and will serve in an advisory capacity.

Owens, Widenhouse Duel In Lakewood Feature

By AL THOMY

Cotton Owens of Spartanburg, S.C., is the hottest bit of racing merchandise on the sportsman-modified market these days, and Bill Widenhouse of Midland, N.C., is unhappy about it.

For, you see, Widenhouse was the 1955 NASCAR national modified racing champion, and he hasn't seen daylight in the last three races. Winner of those? This man Owens.

Both will be in the field of some 40 cars Sunday afternoon at Lakewood when the souped-up models go for the $3,500 prize money of the George Marshallman promotion.

Owens jockeys a Chrysler, while Widenhouse runs a Cadillac engine-powered Chevrolet. Both use injectors instead of carburetors.

There's another familiar name on the sportsman list—Billy

Meyers of Germantown, N.C., brother of national sportsman champion Bobby Meyers, now in the late model division.

The eight event card gets under way at 1:30 Sunday, with the 25-lap feature scheduled for 3. Since modifieds are rated faster than sportsman entries, each of the latter that finishes in the money gets an extra $100.

Others entered are Larry Flynn, Holly Hill, N.C.; David Ezell, Jacksonville, Fla.; Charley Mincey, Ed Perkins, Sonny Black, Atlanta; Billy Carden, Atlanta; Possum Jones, Monroe, N.C.; Johnny Deaver, Columbia, S.C.; Bob Williams, Swansea, S.C.; Whitey Norman, Germantown, N.C.; Banks Simpson, Concord, N.C.; Buck Moore, Charlotte, N.C.; Hickey Nichols, Greenville, S.C.; Dick Blackwell, Star, N.C.; Tommy Boger, Charlotte; Tom Finley, Augusta; Piggie Bennett, Jacksonville; Joe Lee Johnson, Chattanooga; Freddy Fryar, Chattanooga; Charlie Tidwell, Macon.

Atlanta's Jack Smith will be entered provided he has recovered from a kidney attack and pneumonia.

On the local racing front next week, Ted Chester and Alf Knight bring the NASCAR convertibles to the Peach Bowl on Thursday night. The odds-on favorite is, Curtis Turner, Virginia lumberman who has yet to lose a run in the open air.

Southern Racing Enterprises' late model racers raise the curtain on the new Banks County Speedway at Cornelia Saturday night, time trials at 7 o'clock, and on Sunday Roscoe Thompson, Gober Sosebee and company move over to Gainesville for a 100-lap feature, time 1:30 p.m. —THOMY.

Tag Match Heads Card

The Atlanta wrestling spotlight turns to a tag match at City Auditorium Friday, but Chief Big Heart and Jerry Grahame are still the chief contenders.

Big Heart and Grahame, who occupied the feature position on the last two Friday programs, grab a partner and go after each other again this week. Grahame's pal is Rocky Columbo, and Big Heart's is Pierre LaSalle.

Jack O'Brien, billed as the Demon from Death Valley, faces Southern television champion Jackie Nichols in one 20-minute time limit match, and Tom Drake tangles with Dick Raines in the other preliminary.

The New
comes to town!

The new Corvette for '56 is here—and it's a beauty. Interior and exterior are excitingly restyled for a more dynamic appearance. And the car now comes in a selection of six solid colors or six two-tone color combinations. But style is only part of the story. For the last word in sports car comfort and convenience, there are new wind-up windows — or better yet, electric window lifts, optional at extra cost. Also offered are a weatherproof fabric top or a lightweight removable hardtop with outstanding visibility. Performance enthusiasts will marvel at the explosive action of the new 210-h.p. Corvette V8 (225-h.p. V8 is optional at extra cost). When this mighty engine teams up with the new racing-type, close-ratio Synchro-Mesh transmission it pours out astonishing power. Add that to Corvette's traditional handling ease and catlike cornering and you've got a car that's a joy to drive and a distinctive car to own.

Aussies' Miler Will Stay Home

MELBOURNE, April 5 (AP)—Australia's world junior mile record holder Ron Clarke rejected two offers of scholarships from U.S. universities today.

Clarke, whose best time is 4:06.8, said he turned down the offers because there is better coaching and competition in Australia.

The offers came from the University of California at Los Angeles, and Stanford University.

"I think I am better off here," Clarke explained. "I have the best coach in the world—Franz

Trosclair-Led Marist Faces Westminster

Tex Ritter Pitches Opener For Stronger Woodruff Nine

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Let's face it, as Region 4-A baseball foes of Marist must do, the Ivy Street Cadets of 1956 will hit harder, field better, perhaps pitch with more ability and—be tougher to beat.

Catch Bill Woodruff lost star catcher Hilton Johnson, who played in The Constitution's North-South all-star game; a fine all-around performer in shortstop

City Track Teams Run At 4 Today

Murphy High's Eagles, strong candidates for most improved tracksters in the city, find their comeback trail blocked by a team with state championship aspirations Friday at Grady Stadium.

Northside, with shot putter Ed Nutting and a stable of sprinters and hurdlers doing the point-work, stands in the Eagles' line of flight.

Other Grady Stadium meets pit Bass vs. North Fulton, Grady vs. West Fulton and O'Keefe vs. a non-Region 3-AA aggregation. At the Cheney oval, Brown faces Southwest; Fulton battles Smith, and Sylvan goes after Roosevelt. Starting time is 4 p.m.

Red Wings Rally, 3-1

DETROIT, April 5 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings barked back into the thick of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs tonight with a hard-fought 3-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens. The triumph was Detroit's first against two losses in the best-of-seven series. Rookie Al Arbour whisked the puck away from a Canadian opponent in the Detroit end and showed it ahead to Marty Pavelich. Pavelich then passed from right wing to Ted Lindsay directly in front of the Montreal goal and the veteran Lindsay blasted it through goalie Jacques Plante for the tie-breaking goal.

players, but versatile and weak at no particular position. Frank Roper was solid at third base last year. Lloyd Sutter, the Cadets' football MVP, is looking as comfortable in Galvin's shortstop shoes as he did in his own 1955 second-basing brogans. And he'll hit cleanup.

Second base belongs again to 10th-graded Charlie Rhino except when he moves to the mound to aid Tex Ritter, Joel Newsom and Stephen Hynes. All of those got their toe plates wet in competitive waters a year ago. Rhino won't have to be the equal of brother Chappell, one-time Marist star, to be good. Chappell was great. Newsom, a fine hitter, won't have to toe the rubber to be employed. He can go in the outfield, too.

Paul Kelley, Mike Smith, Newsom and Bill Phillips are back to assure a capable outfield again. Lawrence McCauley, a transfer from Tifton, is looking good enough possibly to bench one of the gardeners. Paul Markley, who saw much action last time, is the real handyman. He can spell Rhino at second, Trosclair at first, any of them in the outer pasture. Kelley is the only lefty swinger in sight.

Ken Adamson, the all-state football tackle and second-string catcher last trip, is looking good but being given a real fight for mitt and mask by ninth-grader David Hynes, brother to pitcher Stephen.

Woodruff plans to let Tex Ritter's fast ball do the singing in Friday's opener against Westminster at Glenn Field, 4 p.m.

Trosclair looked so good that Tom Supensky, the incumbent first-sacker, ran off to test the speed boys on the track this spring.

THERE'S NO NEED TO CHOOSE BETWEEN FISH AND INDUSTRY

By BILL ALLEN

I just wonder what kind of world we are living in when you've got to choose between hot and cold, black and white, or—in the latest instance—fishing and industry.

This thought comes from a remark made before the first open discussion of the Georgia Water Law Revision commission at the state capitol Wednesday.

If Georgians must choose between fishing and industry, then reason is fled and we are all headed for Armageddon without benefit of nuclear earthquake. As a matter of fact, it's the internal democratic finessing of compromise that has allowed our nation to follow more or less a "middle road" through its 180 years of existence while other nations have vacillated between totaltarian rigor and moral bankruptcy.

If we lose the finessing, we're through, too.

This "either-or" statement sounds like one from those people who have reportedly approached Scott Candler with the plan of arbitrarily polluting the Ogeechee, Chattahoochee and Oconee rivers and leaving the rest of the rivers in the state industry-less—as inhuman a proposal as you'll ever hear.

From time immemorial the riparian or "downstream" rights law has held: "Leave the water as much in quantity and as good in quality as it was before you use it."

And, industry can keep clean.

If the commission, now holding open meetings throughout Georgia, would do service, it might seek to attain this goal.

As an example, they might ask the huge Merck plant near Albany how it leaves the Flint River water cleaner than it is before the huge chemical installation touches it.

Wherever you are in Georgia, if you fish, attend these meetings. The schedule is, court-houses at:

SINCLAIR AFFIRE: Bill Helms and his daddy, Mark, sparked the waters of Lake Sinclair between Eatonton and Milledgeville into a flaming hot spot this week. They got 18 bass and two crappie, trolling close behind the boat with the solid panfishmaster, reeler and Ike, all blackish. The largest was a six-pounder and five were over five pounds.

SHORT CASTS: In Emanuel County (Swainsboro) in one day, this happened on three separate lakes: J. D. Fields and Raymond Johnson caught five bass weighing 10 1/4-9-9-7-6. Roger Dekle and Floyd Spivey (who imparts this tale) caught 11 of which four weighed 10-7-7-5 and Ted Spivey and Roy Peebles caught eight shad on the Ogeechee weighing from three to five. Mister Spivey, here I come! . . . L. D. Freeman and his Missus got their limit of speckled perch one day and 25 bream and shellcrackers at Lochloosa (south of Orange Lake, Fla.) out of Bland's camp last week on fresh water shrimp. . . . Lauren Norvell and the Standard Federal Allatona bunch have put a blank plaque above their lodge mantel on which will be mounted the first five-pound bass caught by an employee, to be replaced by each larger bass caught—all with appropriate ceremony. . . . At Lake Tyrone, Ty Norton navigated the stumps for a 6 1/2-pound largemouth on a live minnow.

NOT HIS DAY—JACKSON, Miss., April 4—Every dog has his day, they say, but this frisky fido isn't too sure. When he embarked as an uninvited contestant in the 880-yard run, the confident canine figured on a first—or second at worst—considering the opposition. But two-leg advantage and all, he could muster only a fourth. James Bailey of Mendenhall High legs it in ahead of the dog. Oh, well, 2:08.8 isn't too bad for your first race.

Many Jeff Autrys Find Home Plate Only at Dinnertime—Not at School

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

College football talent scouts know all about Jeff Autry. College basketball people know about Jeff Autry. Anyone who played with or against Conyers High or saw Conyers High play anything this school year can tell you about Jeff Autry.

This well-knit, 5-10, 165-pound athlete of many talents is the lad most responsible for the 7-2-1 football record of Coach James Hudson's Bulldogs, who lost only to Morgan County of Madison's state B champs and very strong Washington. They tied state C champ Monticello. Autry accounted for 22 TDs, 10 passing, 12 on foot.

Autry, the lad who fired Conyers into the state B basketball meet, played one of the greatest games I've seen in 15 years against Bradwell Institute of Hinesville, shooting 25 points and making all-state.

Baseball is the sport at which Autry excels most, but baseball scouts never heard of him. Why? Because Conyers fields no team. Why? The answer is "money," they say, yet many smaller schools find the funds to field baseball teams. It is another example of why our national sport is having an increasingly hard time replacing pro stars of today.

Autry, who was brought up in the Jolly Homes orphanage, is a really fine shortstop prospect, hit around .350 with the strong amateur team at Milstead's Callaway Mills last year. The competition is far above high school caliber. But a lot of Jeff Autrys never get to develop their talents at all. No baseball team at their schools. Their only home plate is at the dinner table.

THE FUNNYBONE—Southwest DeKalb Coach Tom Clary, his team trailing Dixie Howell's Smyrna Campbell by four runs in last inning and the DeKalbs have a rally going: "Poor Dixie. I know just how he feels." (Campbell won, 10-8.)

PREP PRATTLE—Constitution scribes taking two no-hitters over the phone simultaneously Tuesday. Bowdon's Billy Slate did it to Carrollton, 6-0. McEachern's Eddie Cobb to Acworth, 16-0. . . . Canton's Joe Dowda intent upon establishing himself as one of state's top three-sports' aces. He three-hit Marietta, 9-1, went 3-for-3 with a homer. . . . Sam Daniel of Greenville put an end to Harris County's all winning ways. . . . Lefty Robert Denson, who'll make Albany a top 1-AA power, lost a classic early duel to Americus' Wayne McDonald, 3-1. . . . Norcross twins Ray and Roy Adams flank the center fielder in left and right.

EDDIE SNELLING is pitching and batting Madison County of Colbert to a place in the baseball sun, beating older and larger schools right and left. . . . Bob Greer, Southwest coach, calling to report birth of Cathy Jo—his second baby girl—unable to remember if he's been married three or four years. Bet Mrs. Greer gives him a good reminder.

Gudger Coach at Ellijay; Hoke Named at Canton

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Robert Donald Gudger, line coach at Gilmer County High for the last four years, will be named head football coach at the Ellijay school for next season. The Constitution learned Thursday.

He will replace John C. Hoke, who has resigned the head coaching job after five years to take a similar position at Cherokee County High, which will be a consolidation of Canton High and several smaller schools.

Jimmy Davis, former Mississippi Southern grid star, probably will be chosen as Gudger's aide.

Gudger, an Ellijay native, was graduated from University of Georgia in 1951 and began study for his Master's last summer at Arizona State College in Phoenix.

Gudger, who spent 42 months in the service during two Army hitchhikes, coached football, baseball and track at Fort Hood, Texas. In addition to his four years as line coach and girls' basketball coach at Ellijay.

He is married to the former Dorothy Garrett, of San Saba, Texas, and has two sons, Joe 2 1/2, and Pat, one-year-old.

Hoke's Ellijay football teams have won 36, lost 12 in five seasons, suffering no home-field losses at all. His 1952 team was co-champion of Region 3-A and his 1955 eleven, undefeated in regular season, won the 3-A Northern Division title. He was graduated from Colorado State College and got his Master's at Peabody.

Emotions Can Open Way To Disease, Emory Told

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Factors that can break down resistance of the body to disease include inadequate nutrition, allergic reactions and mental and emotional disturbances, a Rockefeller Institute scientist said here Thursday.

Reserve Banks' Chief Cautions On Fast Growth

By GENE LEGETTE

ROME, April 5—Unless business, labor and government work together, the economy will run too far too fast and we will have to pay the price, the chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System told Rome and Floyd County Chamber of Commerce members Thursday night.

At a banquet in the gymnasium of Shorter College, William McChesney Martin Jr. of Washington, D.C., told Chamber of Commerce members and Southeastern business and financial leaders, "It is very important that we continue the glorious heritage of the American dollar and not squander but preserve its purchasing power."

R. Donald Harvey Sr., retired general manager of the Lindsell Division of Pepperell Mills and from 1938 to 1942 a member of the Board of Regents of the University System, was named for the year's outstanding civic service award.

Dr. Rene J. Dubos, member of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research in New York City, said he is conducting research on factors that lower resistance to germs.

"Most everybody comes into contact with disease," he said, but very few on the whole become sick. Normal people under normal conditions are resistant to most germs.

Dr. Dubos said mental and emotional disturbances are known to cause a breakdown of resistance to disease.

"The question we are trying to answer," he said, is how this comes about."

Dr. Dubos noted that poor nutrition and "certain types of allergic reactions" also affect normal disease resistance.

A noted microbiologist who paved the way for chemical synthesis of antibiotics, Dr. Dubos came to Atlanta to deliver the Alpha-Omega Alpha lecture Thursday night at Emory University. He spoke on "Physiological Factors in Disease."

Red Cross Drive Is $95,000 Shy; Leaders Confident of Goal by Today

The Greater Atlanta Red Cross fund campaign enters its final day Friday almost $95,000 short of its $586,988 goal.

Campaign directors said at a dinner Thursday night they were confident the goal would be met. Thursday's effort netted $90,551 to bring the total collections to $492,854.

The employees division reported canvasses netted $40,469, a total of $177,398. The public employees division disclosed they had collected $6,570 Thursday, a total of $49,528. Final reports by the tri-cities division, already over their goal, showed they collected $22,581—$11,065 Thursday. Cobb County division reported a $1,449 collection Thursday to boost their collections to $24,275.

Speakers were Atlanta Journal columnist Ernest Rogers and Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of First Methodist Church.

Woman Chases Off Prowler; Pajama Ripper Is Suspected

Atlanta's Southside pajama ripper was believed to have made his first appearance of the year Thursday.

A woman residing in an apartment house on Richmond avenue, SE—who was visited by the mysterious prowler last Dec. 3—told police she heard a noise at the back door and went to investigate.

A man fled when she approached. Pil. T. V. Mullinax and E. G. Perry said the prowler had punched several holes in the screen door in an attempt to force open the latch before he was frightened away.

At the same address last December, police said, the woman's night clothes were cut off by a prowler.

The pajama ripper's activities, widespread over the Southside last year, were abandoned with the coming of cold weather. Police pointed out houses were more securely locked during the winter. As warm weather comes, accompanied by open windows and doors, police anticipate a resumption of the visits.

All the victims so far have been women. Records show the prowler merely cuts the clothing from sleeping women with a razor or sharp knife. To date he has injured no one. On several occasions, victims have awakened and chased him away.

Boy, 7, Says He Set Fire Killing 6

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—A 7-year-old boy admitted today, police said, that he set a fire last night behind a Bronx factory where six firemen died and 14 were injured. It was the Fire Department's worst tragedy in 24 years.

The boy's name was withheld. Official sources said he admitted starting a fire in an empty lot nearby.

Chamblee Church in New Style

By KAY McLEOD
An educational building, contemporary in design and revolutionary in construction method, is being built by the Prospect Methodist Church of Chamblee.

Termed the first of its kind in Georgia by its builders, the three-story structure utilizes a slab-lift process. This method calls for completion of the floors and roofs at ground level.

All electrical and plumbing outlets are built into the concrete slabs which are stacked on top of each other. A layer of a wax compound prevents them from adhering to each other.

After the concrete is set, each slab is raised into position by 18 hydraulic motors, one mounted on each column. Each slab, which is 44 by 112 feet and 7 1/2 inches thick and weighs about 150 tons, is then welded to the steel columns.

The outer walls will be of concrete block with stucco and will feature panaview-style windows.

The complete building, representing an initial cost of $100,000, will contain 45 rooms including classrooms, assembly halls, offices and a modern nursery.

Alexander and Smith, contractors for the building, revealed that the slab-lift process is from 5 to 10 percent cheaper than conventional construction methods.

The design of the building represents an almost total departure from the traditional type of church structure.

When architects Barker and Cunningham presented the plans, the congregation voiced complete approval. Rev. D. H. Maxey admits that he was surprised and a little disapproving of the style at first.

"But since then," he says, "it has grown on me and I wouldn't want any other kind."

Expressing a desire to get away from the feeling of "being preached at," the congregation adopted a sanctuary plan in which the pulpit and communion table are near the center.

Plans for the sanctuary reveal a skylight in the ceiling above the pulpit and altar, an all-glass wall along the south balcony walls and a grille and religious sculpture back of this glass.

The upper balcony will extend over the lower floor walls forming a covered walk. The bells, exposed in a tower, will be reflected in a pool of water surrounding a garden in front of the church, according to the architect's drawing.

This church, the oldest in De-

Kalb County, has a history dating back more than 125 years.

During the past three years, under the pastorate of the Rev. Maxey, the church has more than doubled its membership.

Here's How To Use The Beauty Secret Of Glamorous Stars!

by Betty Montague

Why do famous actresses of screen and television look so young and have such wonderfully smooth, flawless complexions for so long?

How can they play roles 15 and 20 years younger than you know they really are? Chances are they don't look any different than you do when they wake up in the morning!

What is their secret? It's simple! To face the cameras they use expensive liquid make-up bases that are put on by experts—and retouched many times a day. But they're much too heavy, too mask-like for you to wear all day or all evening.

How Hazel Bishop Solves This Problem!

For years, cosmetic chemists have sought to develop a make-up base to meet your everyday beauty requirements; that's easy to use—that goes on quickly—looks natural and soft in appearance—and is so light you barely feel it. The experts said it couldn't be done!

But, once again, HAZEL BISHOP succeeded in doing the seemingly impossible—created an entirely different kind of make-up that makes it wonderfully easy for every woman to enjoy a lovely, smooth, "radiant" complexion.

Only Liquid Make-Up In Different Formulas For Dry, Normal & Oily Skin!

There's a protectively rich formula for dry and normal skins... an extra-absorbent formula for oily skin. That's why this miracle make-up and powder base looks lovelier, longer—why it's the only Make-Up that is a perfect foundation for any powder—whether loose, pressed or compact-type.

That's also why your special formula Hazel Bishop "Liquid Make-Up" holds your powder perfectly for as long as 12 hours without retouching... why it positively will not soak through... won't get shiny, won't cake, won't streak... won't crack!

7 Natural Looking Shades—2 Entirely Different Formulas!

Hazel Bishop "Liquid Make-Up" comes in superbly flattering "natural" tones to complement your skin; whether it's dry, normal, or oily. That's why you'll find just the right glowing shade to match your complexion, for day-time or evening wear. What's more, Hazel Bishop "Liquid Make-Up" is clean smelling, mildly scented.

Never Before Such "Excited Raves" From Busy Women Everywhere!

MRS. ERICH PLOMMER, San Francisco housewife: "With two youngsters and housework I began to look older than my own mother—and too busy to do anything about it. Your marvelous new make-up fixed all that!

The very first time I put it on—I got so excited I called in my neighbors to see the change! They wanted to know where I discovered the 'Fountain of Youth'! P.S. Mr. Plommer likes it, too!"

ELLEN MAMLOCK, Laboratory Technician, Washington, D.C.: "Whatever your formula for 'Liquid Make-Up'—it's sheer magic! Never saw anything go on so easily and smoothly.

Take my word for it—it's the only make-up I've ever tried that doesn't make my face feel like I'm wearing a mask! For I have an oily skin, and Hazel Bishop's 'Liquid Make-Up' is the only one I've ever found that I can use."

JESSIE GREENELL, Secretary, Boston, Mass.: "Thank you very much for creating your

Students Told Of Welfare Work Appeal

High school and college students should consider careers in public welfare work, Fulton County Welfare Administrator Wellborn Ellis said Thursday.

Ellis said that his department, although it has no vacancies now, consistently finds it difficult to locate persons with college training who wish to make a career of social work or public welfare work.

Because of this fact, he pointed out, welfare and social agencies over the country compete for workers with college degrees and with graduate experience in social work or a willingness to take graduate schooling.

"Persons with graduate training in social work can walk into a welfare agency anywhere in the county and get a job," Ellis emphasized.

The county administrator said his department has especially experienced difficulty in filling positions of public welfare workers and child welfare workers-in-training.

This problem is heightened by the department requirement of college degrees and its need of finding college graduates who are willing to take additional schooling to qualify for higher paying positions, he pointed out.

BLADDER "WEAKNESS" RUINS SLEEP AND ENERGY

Are you worried and embarrassed by "Bladder Weakness" (Getting Up Nights too frequent, burning and itching urinations or Stings, Cloudy Urine) due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations, which sometimes result in Backache, and nervousness? And do such irritations cause tension and loss of sleep so that you feel old, tired and depressed? In such cases, OXYTEK usually gives quick, wonderful, soothing relief through its germ combating action in acid urine, and its analgesic pain relieving value. Over a billion OXYTEK tablets used prove safety and success. Get OXYTEK from drugist today under money-back guarantee for a brighter tomorrow.

Floyd Curfew Is Asked To Stem Teen Crime

The Floyd County Grand Jury Thursday recommended enactment of a teen-age curfew ordinance and called on court officials to authorize publication of the names of juveniles involved in crimes "where public interest would be served."

The action was in the form of special presentments read before Superior Court Judge Mack G. Hicks.

It followed an upsurge in juvenile cases in the Rome area.

The grand jury said investigation revealed that most juvenile crimes occurred at night and such a curfew would serve as a curb.

of "better citizens" to eliminate what they termed a "speed trap" in the city of Woodbine, which has six- and eight-lane paving for U.S. Highway 17 passing through the town of 750 population.

Graduates Must Spend 6 Years In Military, Says Sunday Paper

Look for these stories in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution:

A YOUNG MAN ABOUT TO GRADUATE from high school can be sure about six years of his future, at least. Unless he is physically handicapped, he must spend six or more years in the armed services and reserve programs. Constitution staff writer Bruce Galpin explains the various programs of the armed services.

TENNESSEE'S SEN. KEFAUVER seems to have his state's 32 votes at the Chicago Democratic convention in the bag. Meanwhile, Sen. Kefauver, campaigning in Florida, said he expects to abide by the Supreme Court's segregation decision and believes the South will accept his stand. These developments are reported by Joe Hatcher and Charles Hesser on the Southeast Empire page of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution this Sunday.

Yugoslav Folk Dancers Delight Audience With Vivid Movement, Muscular Mastery

By DAN COGGIN

The Yugoslav National Folk Ballet, "Tanec," thrilled and delighted the audience at a first-night performance here Thursday.

Ballet is a complete misnomer, however, for it is simply a group of 40 dancers, singers and musicians who overflow with the traditional folk culture of a country with more than its share of varied influences from within and without.

This particular group, part of a national movement aimed at the revival of folk art, comes from Macedonia, but its dances and songs come also from Serbia, Croatia and Dalmatia. There are treasures galore to be found in the rich and vital repertoire of this remarkable troupe. All the dances are vivid and genuine and elemental.

To see these dancers, alive to their fingertips, enormously skillful, healthy, husky, moving through intricately measured phrases with superb rhythmic command and muscular mastery is to have a great experience.

Among the dances are many which illustrate the endless variety and the tremendous skill of a thoroughly ingratiating company. And there are brilliantly spectacular and wonderfully unfamiliar dances.

Everywhere in the program there is something to admire, something to stir the senses, because the innocence of these performers was of a joyous brand. They are nimble beyond belief.

As in any good folk dance culture, the men's dancing is more rewarding than the women's. These sturdy, spirited and forthright men can dance not only as fast as you please, but also as slowly, which is harder and can be much more exciting.

The ballet will remain at the Tower Theater through Saturday. For an entirely new insight into dancing, don't miss it.

Youth Seized and 3 Sought In Attack on Girl, 14, Here

A 14-year-old girl Thursday was raped by two schoolmates while a third schoolmate and a roofing company employee held her, police were told.

Detectives M. W. Blackwell and M. A. Johnson said the girl suffered bruises about the head and shoulders and other injuries.

A youth, identified as Carlus Cook, 18, of 399 Jones Rd., NW, was arrested on suspicion of rape, detectives said.

Detectives were searching for three others, listed as an 18-year-old high school senior, a 16-year-old boy and a youth of 20, employed by a roofing concern.

The girl and a companion, 13, were on their way home from school Thursday, detectives said, when the four youths, three of whom attend the same school, drove up at Charlotte place and Bankhead avenue, NW, and offered the girls a ride.

Instead of taking them home, detectives said, the four drove to a secluded section of Boulder Park and stopped. There, detectives said, the 20-year-old and the 16-year-old youths held the older girl while the other two attacked her.

The younger girl was not molested. After the attack, detectives were told, the youths drove the girls to a point near their homes and let them out.

On Tax Postmark

District Internal Revenue Service Director Paul Cobb Thursday reminded that 1955 income tax returns must be postmarked not later than midnight, April 16.

Cobb Man Dies Of Crash Hurts

Albert George Prince, 23, of Rte. 1, Powder Springs, Cobb County, died Thursday at Grady Hospital of auto crash injuries suffered five days ago.

Police identified Prince, a laborer, as the driver of a machine involved in collision with another auto at Powers Ferry road and Northside drive, NW. His death was listed due to head and chest injuries.

Two other persons were injured in the mishap. Ptl. J. F. Dickey and S. F. Holbrook said. The crash occurred in the unincorporated area of Fulton County.

Psychiatric Aid Asked For Young

Teachers, social workers and public health personnel should have special training in dealing with emotionally disturbed children, a psychiatric social work consultant said here Thursday.

Mrs. Joanna F. Gorman of the Bureau of Mental Health, Florida State Board of Health, said such training also would help in the "prevention of emotional disturbances."

Speaking at the 26th regional conference of the Child Welfare League of America at the Biltmore Hotel, Mrs. Gorman said recognition of a child's problem early "can prevent the development of more serious problems later."

PRaises Clinics

Mrs. Gorman said community child guidance clinics fill the need for diagnosis and treatment of emotional disorders.

She said workshops or institutes in child welfare for professional groups.

Dr. Phillip C. Sottong, psychiatrist-director of the Chattanooga Guidance Clinic, said some resentment of teen-agers toward their parents is "part of growing up."

He said all teen-agers are torn between wanting to grow up and wanting to remain a child. That's the reason he cited for the seeming inconsistency in their behavior.

TODAY'S PROBLEMS

Dr. Sottong cited the case of an adolescent who requests use of the family car. He said the teen-ager is pleased to have the car because driving indicates adulthood—but he is insulted if his father suggests that he pay for the gas. In this respect, Dr. Sottong said, he's "still a child—and it's papa who pays."

Joseph H. Reid, executive director of the Child Welfare League of America, said welfare agencies must gear their programs to meet today's problems which are very different from those of 25 years ago. He said today's children are more likely to be emotionally disturbed.

About 700 persons from eight Southeastern states are attending the conference, which will continue through Saturday noon.

Boss Lets Middies Sleep Late Sundays

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 5 (AP)—Midshipmen at the Naval Academy will be able to sleep on Sunday mornings under a new directive issued today by Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg, new superintendent. The directive abolishes, for the first time in the 110-year history of the institution, a 7:15 Sunday reveille. It also eliminates compulsory breakfast at 7:30.

3 Women, 2 Men Held in Probe of Robbery Beating

Three women and two men wanted in connection with the beating and robbery of a DeKalb County fireman were rounded up Thursday on warrants charging robbery by force and violence, police said.

DeKalb Det. Lt. R. A. Boone said the five were wanted in connection with the March 26 robbery of Sanders Glenn Austin.

One, identified as Margaret Catherine Mooney, 18, the mother of two children, surrendered to police, Boone related. Two others, Charles Haines, 20, and his wife, Helen, were arrested by Atlanta Dets. B. G. Holland and Y. H. Allen.

Boone said Walter Harwell, 19, and a 16-year-old girl were held at the DeKalb Jail.

Piedmont Road Rezoning OK'd

The aldermanic board's planning committee Thursday approved rezoning of property fronting approximately 1,100 feet on Piedmont road in the Plaster-Monroe road areas for commercial use. The zoning will extend approximately 250 deep.

The board also approved seven other petitions, adverse four, held one for further study and permitted withdrawal of another.

Advised were petitions affecting sites at Macedonia road near Jonesboro road; Indals place, SW, near Avon avenue; Jonesboro road, SE, and Constitution road, and Central avenue, SW, near Woodward avenue. Held was a petition to rezone a tract on Campbellton road, SW, near Hadlock street, and withdrawn was a measure affecting a site on Gordon road, SW, near Peyton road. All other petitions were approved.

Opponents of S.C. Senators Qualify, Pull Out at Deadline

COLUMBIA, S.C., April 5 (AP)—South Carolina's two U.S. senators, Olin D. Johnston and Strom Thurmond, got by without opposition today after a brief flurry just before the deadline for filing for the June 12 Democratic primary.

Two Anderson men filed against the incumbents, then withdrew.

Primary nomination is tantamount to election.

Frank R. Thompson, 52, Anderson oil distributor, filed about 11:30 A.M. against Thurmond. At 11:50, former U.S. Rep. John C. Taylor of Anderson plunked down his $1,500 fee against Johnston.

Both withdrew at 11:59.30—30 seconds before the deadline—after a conference in a closed room adjoining the office of party secretary J. M. Smith.

"That's the shortest campaign in history," Taylor quipped as the men got their checks back from Smith.

Thurmond was elected by write-in vote in the 1954 general election against the party executive committee choice, State Sen. Edgar A. Brown, national executive committeeman. The former governor promised to resign before the next primary so the people could choose their senator by popular vote. His

Billy Graham Off-Color Jokes Must Be Rebuffed

QUESTION: In the shop where I work, many men are constantly telling off-color jokes, even other Christians. I do not want to appear self-righteous, but I do want to let it be known that, as a Christian, I detest these stories. How can I do it?

ANSWER: Recently, a man that I know was riding in a taxi and the driver told him a dirty joke. Instead of laughing my friend said simply: "I am a Christian and a story like that makes me feel badly inside because I know Christ does not like it." The taxi driver immediately apologized and was quiet.

When my friend got out of the taxi the driver said: "I am sorry, sir, not only because I offended you but also because I am supposed to be a Christian too. You have taught me a lesson I badly needed."

In your situation I would suggest first of all that you definitely ask God to guide you, giving you the words to say and leading you as to the time you say them. If you will do this, I can promise you that not only will you do the right thing but that you will also help someone else.

Do not be discouraged if some resent what you say, and, above all do not get angry. Ask God's Holy Spirit to take over in your heart and leave the rest to Him.

GMA Finds Its Auto Parked in Its Lobby

A small, black English Ford was found parked in the lobby of the administration building of Georgia Military Academy Thursday morning.

Col. William R. Brewster, head of the College Park school, referred to "a smart aleck prank." He attributed the car's presence in the lobby to a group of students who apparently hoisted the 1,800-pound auto up the building's nine steps.

A group of adult officers and cadets returned the car to the parking lot. The car belongs to the school.

engines for weight and other tests.

Research on nuclear power plants has been under way for some time.

The Georgia project will deal only with development of a plane to use a nuclear power plant, not with research and engine design.

Scientists now working on the research envision a plane "much bigger" than the present B36, which is 162 feet long, has a 230-foot wing spread and a tail 36 feet high.

Lockheed recently let preliminary design contracts for an engineering building and laboratories which will be built on a 140-acre tract adjacent to the Marietta plant.

The company announced last December that it was moving its preliminary design studies of nuclear powered aircraft from Burbank, Calif., to the Georgia plant.

Dawson County is located northeast of Cobb County—home of Lockheed's Marietta plant—and separated from Cobb by Cherokee County. Dawsonville, the county seat, is about 60 miles from Atlanta.

North Georgia newsmen and state leaders have been invited by Lockheed to Gainesville Monday night "for the purpose of discussing plans of the United States Air Force and Lockheed in Dawson County."

to his being named director of labor relations at the Detroit Diesel Engine Division in 1942.

He was named assistant manager of the B-O-P plant at Framingham, Mass., in 1945 and a year later was assigned to the Linden plant as production manager.

Mr. Bolte had served as the only manager of the Doraville plant, which opened in 1947.

He was owner of a 1,500-acre cattle and hog farm at Zebulon, called Rose Hill, which was to have been his retirement home.

Mr. Bolte was a member of the Capital City Club and Brookhaven Country Club. He had served on the staffs of both Gov. Griffin and former Gov. Herman Talmadge.

He was a director of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

During World War I, Mr. Bolte served in the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps. He was a native of New York City.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Spring Hill. Dean Alfred Hardman will officiate. Entombment will be in Westview Abbey.

Survivors include his wife, the former Mary Duggins; a daughter, Mrs. E. D. Geare of Zebulon, and a sister, Mrs. William F. Conklin of Long Branch, N.J.

Gov. Luther Hodges was not present for the reading, but Pearsall made it clear the governor had accepted the report and supported it wholeheartedly.

Immediate action is needed, the report said, because "racial tensions are mounting in North Carolina every day." The situation is "very dangerous" and "it could become a dreadful situation quickly," it added.

The report said the committee was unanimous in the opinion that the people of the state "will not support mixed schools" and expressed the belief that if the schools were integrated the Legislature would "withhold support to a degree that the result would certainly be the ruin and eventual abandonment of the public schools."

The school system has been built on the "foundation stone of separation of the races," it declared. The Supreme Court has "destroyed the school system which we had developed." However, it said, the court's decision is "the declared law and is binding upon us."

The committee proposed that the Legislature adopt "a strong resolution of protest" over what it called the court's "shocking invasion" of rights which the Constitution reserved to the states.

But, it said, "defiance of the Supreme Court would be foolhardy." It might alienate those "who may be won to our way of thinking," it might "forfeit" consideration we must have from the federal judges if we are to educate our children now, and it "could mean the closing of the public schools very quickly."

'Get Even' Fire Brings Sentence

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

A parolee's apparent attempt to get even with a girl friend who broke up with him brought him a prison term of three to five years Thursday night on an arson conviction.

Judge E. E. Andrews imposed the sentence on Clifford Reese, 27, after Reese was convicted of arson in Fulton Superior Court in connection with a fire the night of March 27 at the firm of Yancey Brothers, 119 Jackson St., N.W. The state charged Reese, released on parole May 30 after serving one and a half years of a three-to-five-year burglary term, with "willfully and maliciously" setting the fire.

OWNER'S SON

B. M. Yancey, a son of one of the owners, said Reese's girl friend was working at the firm at the time of the fire. He said she and Reese had broken up after a fight.

Another witness testified he took down the license number of a car parked nearby after he saw a man toss three lighted matches near the building.

OIL PRODUCT

Fire Inspector Roy Parker testified "a petroleum product" was used to start the fire. Firemen put out the blaze a little later and damage was "negligible."

The morning after the fire, detectives said, they went to a hotel on Ponce de Leon avenue, N.E., to question Reese and a co-defendant, Reginald Crawford, on another case. While questioning Crawford, officers said, they saw him slip something into his sock.

It turned out to be the registration slip for a 1930 sedan. The license number matched that taken down at the scene of the fire.

Crawford is to be tried later.

DeKalb Share, $254,000, Tops New School Cash

DeKalb County will receive the largest appropriation in the state — $254,000 — in new funds granted by the State Department of Education Thursday. Other Atlanta area systems will bring the total allotted in this section to $383,000.

The new funds were released to pay teacher costs in rapidly expanding school systems. They are part of the $5,500,000 released last month by the state board.

The figures were released on Thursday after reports of average daily attendance for the first six months were received.

Figures are still coming in from over the state, said Dr. Claude Purcell, assistant state school superintendent. Official announcement of the new allotments will be made April 9.

The DeKalb fund will pay for about 82 new teachers. Cobb County will receive money for 24 teachers — $72,000; Fulton for 14 teachers — $42,000, and Atlanta for five — $15,000.

Violinist Erica Morini Scores at Emory Fest

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Rain diminished the audience at the Erica Morini concert Thursday night, but failed to dampen its enthusiasm for her fine talent.

Miss Morini, one of the outstanding names among the world's violinists, appeared on the second program of Emory University's Spring Festival of Music in Glenn Memorial Auditorium.

Her talents were put to best display in Prokofiev's "Sonata No. 2," a fiendishly demanding work which required the ultimate in precise bowing and dynamics control.

She received excellent support from her accompanist, Leon Pommer.

Miss Morini has not the fire and dash of a Stern or a Francescatti, but beneath her manner lies an enviable talent.

She demonstrated an ability to produce enormous power in a Kreisler arrangement of a theme by Corelli. The number, which abounds in 16th and 32nd notes, also showed her extremely accurate articulation and dramatic double-stopping.

Occasionally, as in Handel's "Larghetto," Miss Morini tended in slow passages to give undue emphasis to the note at the end of a bow stroke.

The audience was particularly pleased with Spohr's "Concerto No. 9."

In the lovely allegro movement, Miss Morini again displayed her exceptional control over volume, and great dexterity.

Wieniawski's "Souvenir de Moscou," a rather frothy work, which is at times tedious in its extreme tonal depth, was well executed by the artist.

Tonsillectomy Called as Old As Christ's Era

They were taking out tonsils during the time of Christ, Dr. James T. King told a meeting of the Fulton County Medical Society Thursday night in a talk on tonsillectomy.

During the discussion, held at the Academy of Medicine, King quoted from works of Celsus, a Roman aristocrat during the time of Christ, and Aetius, a sixth-century surgeon who flourished in Constantinople.

"Aetius has left us the best descriptions of ear, nose and throat diseases in the literature of antiquity," King said. Dr. Charles E. Dowman spoke on "Pain Following Spinal Anesthesia."

Emory Wheel Plans Reunion

Former editors and staff members of The Emory Wheel, student weekly at Emory University, will hold a reunion dinner at the university cafeteria April 14 at 8 p.m.

Ernest Rogers, Atlanta Journal columnist and founder of The Emory Wheel, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Cook Raps Court's New State Curbs

Atty. Gen. Cook expressed fear Thursday that a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing Pennsylvania's sedition act eventually could outlaw all dual jurisdiction between the states and federal government. He warned the decision might be extended to include cases involving illicit liquor, narcotics, kidnapping, bank robberies, homicide and other crimes.

Georgia and 41 other states have such sedition laws, Cook said, declaring that the Supreme Court is "gradually whittling away the rights of the sovereign states to handle their own internal affairs." "The states are being made merely information agencies for the federal government," he said. Cook said he was going to discuss the problem at the Southern regional meeting of the National Assn. of Attorneys General April 22 at Point Comfort, Va. He is a former president of the NAAG. He said the decision leaves the states helpless to investigate subversion against state government.

Beautiful Valley Lost in Time

We rode for miles over the mountains. Lunch time had come and gone and our emergency supply of gumdrops, raw peanuts and cinnamon buns was running low. We were hungry, a little nauseated and aching in every muscle from beating over remote unpaved mountain roads.

Our guide, an experienced mountain traveler, watched the road ravel out ahead of us in a mudhole and a thicket of rhododendron and he sighed heavily.

"This couldn't be the way," he said. "We've taken the wrong turn. Nobody has been over this road since some lumber company was in here logging 10 or 15 years ago. We'll have to go back and ask."

The photographer turned the car around on the mountain slope with some difficulty and I bounced around on the back seat wondering if another raw peanut would make me feel better or worse.

The last house we had passed had obviously been abandoned. And yet remembering it I was glad to go back. It was an old house with curling, moss-grown shingles, log outbuildings and a silver tendril of a stream moving through the yard from a little spring near the back door.

Peach and pear trees leaned gently toward the roof, framing the old house with black boughs laden with pink and white blossoms. Somewhere on the slope back of the house another tree—a wildling—lifted more snowy blooms. It was the tree called "Sarvis" and I wondered if it could be "Service," although I don't see that it matters. Sarvis is certainly as nice a name as Service.

From the mountainside in front of the house it made a pretty picture in the late afternoon—pretty and sort of lonesome looking. Then we saw an old lady in a sunbonnet digging in the yard and we stopped and asked directions.

The folks we were looking for were back up the road we had been so willing to abandon, she said. Over the mountain and across the gap—you can't miss it. We asked if she knew if they were at home.

"They're there," she said steadily. "They're always there."

We turned back and reclimbed the mountain and went down its other side and up another mountain. It was a dim, never-worked, seldom-traveled road—a one-vehicle thoroughfare for sure. The scenery on either side was so beautiful I forgot my stomachache and my tiredness in just looking. Around a sudden turn there would be a heart-catching view and then once more the road would dip into a cool, deep-shaded hollow where we heard and smelled the creek once more.

When we figured we were lost again we emerged in a little valley with rich, newly plowed fields stretching off to the mountainside and steep banks of rhododendron and laurel leading to the blue-scaled hills beyond.

"This is it," said our guide.

For a little while I couldn't get my mind on the interview and the pictures we had come seeking. It was like coming to Shangri-la... a beautiful, shut off from the world, lost in time valley. I saw the old log house was falling in and had been replaced by a new, tarpaper-sided cottage, but it was the only new thing I saw and it was small and inoffensive against the majesty of the scenery.

It was surely the end of the world, I thought, and I was pleased with having found it. But the old man who lived there set me straight.

"Have you always lived here?" I asked.

"No," he said seriously. "We've only lived here about 30 years. We used to live back in the mountains."

Goodnight Kisses Are Not Girl's Duty

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am going to be 17 soon. My problem isn't too serious but I am puzzled. I like a boy very much and he says he likes me, too. We have known each other for two years. However, he is away in the Navy now.

We both realize that with another year of school to finish I should not miss out on all activities, so he approves of my dating other boys while he is away.

About two months ago I was introduced to another boy. He is very nice but I do not like him any better than the other boys and have not led him to believe I do. We have dates about once a week and always have a good time.

Now comes my problem. Is it my duty to kiss him goodnight or is it OK to flash him a smile, say I enjoyed the evening and goodnight? I realize, of course, that in time my feelings for the boy in the Navy may change but right now, even though I enjoy dating, I do not want to kiss other boys.

It is never a girl's duty to kiss a boy goodnight. However, I do recommend that you be absolutely sure the boy you now are dating knows exactly how you feel, if you intend to continue dating him. In other words, play fair. Be sure he knows the score.

If he still wants to take you out, then your conscience will be clear. Otherwise, he might very logically believe you are especially interested in him if you continue to date him regularly.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

My best girl friend (at least I think she is) always comes to my home when there is a boy here. Whether he is just an acquaintance or, as the case is now, my steady, she always manages to just drop in and says, "Oh! I didn't know you had company."

This wouldn't be so bad if she left right away or if it didn't happen so often. She always stays until the boy leaves and then says to him, "Would you mind driving me home?" What can I do. She doesn't take a hint. We can't even have a dance date without her wanting to double date. This is fine at times, but it's getting so I could choke her! Please answer as soon as possible.

Since it is so obvious that your girl friend is making a deliberate attempt to crash your dates, my advice is for you to be just as obvious about stopping her. I suggest this solution to your problem. The next time you are expecting your boy friend to come over for the evening, either call or make it a point to see this girl. Tell her you are saving company for the evening and you are telling her in advance so she will not make the mistake of "just dropping in." If she acts peeved or hurt, explain that you are a firm believer in the old saying, "Two's company, three's a crowd" and you would prefer to have your boy friend to yourself, at least occasionally.

Balenciaga Shirt Dresses Are Never Out of Fashion

The shirt dress is never out of fashion, of course—at least in this country where it is an integral part of the "American" look. One of our own greatest designers never shows a collection without one—always interpreted of course in the new prevailing fashion.

This spring the shirt dress has been boosted into top fashion importance by the strong sponsorship of Balenciaga.

Sometimes there may be a little soft fullness in the center front, just at the waistline. Always there is a suggestion of an easy blouse at the back, always there is a set-in belt tied in a bow in front.

Golfers' Wives Watch Packing; Tiny Turtle Returns to Masters

By MARY GRAY ANDERSON

AUGUSTA, April 5—Packing for a weekend trip is a nightmare for many women. But imagine what it would be like if you had to live out of a suitcase year round.

If your husband were a professional golfer you might be faced with that problem. Mrs. Billy Maxwell attended 41 tournaments a year with her husband, who won the U.S. amateur championship in 1951.

Playing a tournament here one week and there the next week all over the United States, and some out of the country, including Cuba and Mexico, you can almost absorb a year with packing and unpacking.

"The clothes I have with me now I packed while we were at home for Christmas, in Dallas, Tex.," Mrs. Maxwell said. "I generally keep the same clothes with me for six months, which include clothes for all kinds of weather. I carry a very large suitcase and a small case, and we try to hang as much in the car as we can."

JUST MORE TO PACK

Mrs. Maxwell said she rarely ever buys any clothes while traveling, although she travels to places where they have very fashionable shops, because it would mean that she would have more to pack.

Her six-month wardrobe consists of a long, warm coat for basic wear, two suits, four skirts, six sweaters, four cotton dresses, a couple of party dresses, and slacks and Bermuda shorts. Mrs. Maxwell's secret for carrying a limited number of costumes, yet always looking well-dressed, is sticking to one or two basic neutral colors and interchanging colorful accessories.

Mrs. Sam Urzetta and her 2½-year-old daughter, Helen, of Rochester, N.Y., are only traveling the winter season. Sam Urzetta, U.S. amateur champion in 1950, teaches golf at the Rochester Country Club the rest of the year. Mrs. Urzetta has found it no particular problem traveling with husband and daughter so far. This is their first year of following the tournaments, but she hopes they can do it again next year.

Professional golfers enjoy a rather normal family life even though they stay on the go. About 30 wives and some children, ranging from 6 months to 5 years old, are in the group here for the Masters tournament.

Those who don't live in trailers—including both the Maxwells and the Urzettas—look for a nice hotel with TV and kitchen facilities. They keep staple groceries on hand and do some cooking.

"QUITE A TROOPER"

The wives get together and play golf or bridge during the day. They have baby showers and birthday parties, take their clothes to the laundrette, go to movies, or meet at the clubhouse and sew or write letters while the men are practicing.

"We live like most any neighborhood of families," Mrs. Maxwell said.

"Little Helen is quite a trooper," Mrs. Urzetta said. "Golf doesn't impress her much one way or the other. We follow Daddy around the course sometimes in the morning when she is fresh and feels good, but she can only last nine holes. Otherwise we keep off the course and stick around the clubhouse."

The Maxwells don't have any children, but Mrs. Maxwell's pet travels with them. It's a turtle she found at the sixth hole at the Masters last year. She named it "Azalea" for the tournament her husband won in 1955. It has had two plane trips and has grown from the size of a dime to the size of a half-dollar.

Anne Boleyn's Hallway Has Duplicate Here

By YOLANDE GWIN

"And this part in here," said Mrs. Albert Love, waving toward a three-story area, "is supposed to be an exact duplicate of the entrance hall of Anne Boleyn's castle in England when she was the queen of Henry VIII."

In a sneak preview of the fabulous English manor type home of Mr. and Mrs. Love at 65 Valley Rd., which will be open for the house and garden tour Saturday and Sunday, many interesting features were revealed about the vast estate.

Built in the early '30s (it took four years to complete) by the soft drink bigwig, the late Samuel Candler Dobbs, the house was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Love. Authentically English, seven of the estate's 12 acres are landscaped to resemble an English estate garden.

BOUGHT FROM DOBBS

"We bought a few of the rugs, two choir stall chairs and a table and a sofa from the Dobbs family," said Mrs. Love. "The rest of the furniture belonged to us."

"The green velvet sofa in our drawing room has adjustable arms and the story on it is that it was one of a pair which belonged to Maria Theresa, wife of Emperor Francis I. The other is owned by a family in Texas."

The Loves have bought authentic furniture for their spacious home, which has six bedrooms and five baths on the second floor. The entrance hall at the front door opens into the cathedral-like hall with its arched ceiling of English oak.

Woodwork throughout the home is oak and features elaborate carvings. Floor boards, doors and stairways, have wooden pegs instead of nails. The entrance hall and a walkway which leads to the family dining room have stone floors.

MEDITERRANEAN BLUE

The dining room has Mediterranean blue walls and hand-blocked Indian print draperies.

The formal dining room which opens from the cathedral-like center hall is furnished with massive pieces which characterize the English Renaissance period. The walls are murals of the Normandy coastline, hand-painted in oil on canvas. Colors range from cream to dark brown.

The drawing room has an oak-beamed ceiling with elaborate carving. Decorative motifs on the wood trim as well as on the stone fireplace and mantel include fruit, human figures and loggias.

Massive Chinese lamps grace tables in this room while wall brackets are hammered iron.

MODERN PAINTING

"I may live amid the atmosphere of the English Renaissance," confided Mrs. Love "but my hobby is collecting modern painting. One of my favorites is the 'Cotton Pickers' by Ferdinand Warren. My newest is one by Maude Mason given me by our close friend,

CO-EDS will help Emory's ATO fraternity celebrate its 75th anniversary by wearing costumes of the 75-year span in a parade Friday. Here Miss Lenor Abbot wears 1902 style bathing suit, Miss Sally Gatling shows 1951 street dress, and style of 1895 is portrayed by Miss Cathlene Leland.

Dr. Rosenberg To Be Honored At Coffee Friday

A coffee hour will follow the lecture to be given Friday afternoon by Dr. Jakob Rosenberg, eminent authority on art, at the Atlanta Art Assn.'s Walter Hill Auditorium, with the lecturer as honor guest.

Dr. Rosenberg, who is professor of fine arts at Harvard, will speak on "The Problem of Quality in Contemporary Art," illustrating his subject with colored slides. He is also curator of the print room of the Fogg Museum at Harvard.

Dr. Rosenberg has just completed a series of lectures in Baltimore and Washington. He will be the guest here of his daughter, Mrs. Nahum Medalia, and Prof. Medalia of the sociology department at Georgia Tech.

His lecture is set for 4 p.m. on Friday and is open to the public.

Atlanta Accent Their Dwarf Parrot Got in Their Hair

By MARJORY SMITH

CHILD entranced by white drifts of dogwood out Druid Hills way: "Oh, look at the trees like big lace umbrellas!"

A BOARDING HOUSE FOR BIRDS is one of the oddities along Atlanta's fascinating main drag.

It operates year-round and has some exclusive patrons including Pepper, dwarf parrot owned by Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hayes Jr. of Avondale Estates.

Pepper, as frascible as a full-sized parrot, comes from California — and Mrs. Hayes vows she'll never take him on a trip again. "I drove from Long Beach to Atlanta alone with that bird about a year ago," she recalls. "He wouldn't stay in a cage. He was literally in my hair, under my sweater or perched on the steering wheel most of the way."

Mrs. Hayes travels frequently with her husband, an employee of the U.S. Public Health Service. But Pepper, whose wide vocabulary includes a smug "Pepper's a pretty baby," is boarded.

The Hayes are fond of their pet, but his mistress admits she "can let her hair down" in his absence. "The bird's mood depends on mine," she explained. "Somehow Pepper can tell if I'm the slightest bit upset. He senses it and goes into a screaming rage himself. I have to stay sweet around him to keep him happy—sort of like handling a husband!"

BARE-HEADED NEGRO MAN traveling in back of open truck moving down Walton street, accompanied by eight gleaming white plaster-of-paris replicas of the Venus de Milo statue.

ATLANTA EX-GIs who glimpsed Paris night-life during their overseas stint "would be amazed at the newest trend," local tourist, just back from France, sighs. The American strip-tease has caught on over there, he reports, and "it takes all evening to see a show-girl the way she was at the start of the show when I was over there during World War II."

MOVIE REVIEW

Kettles Get In Groove In Ozarks

Song writers have a belief that certain melodies are in what they term a "hit groove." That there is also a "hit groove" in movies is impressively demonstrated by "The Kettles in the Ozarks," which opened Thursday at the Paramount Theater.

The merry adventures and misadventures of the prodigious Kettle tribe, in this, the eighth in the series, are still very much in the groove, judging from the gales of laughter which greet the hilarious incidents as they unfold on the screen.

UNCLE SEDGE

As the title promises, Ma Kettle and her brood invade the Ozark Mountains in the new picture. They go there to visit Pa's brother, Sedgewick Kettle, played by Arthur Hunnicutt, a welcome newcomer to the series.

Ma, the kids and the audience discovered that there is an extremely close kinship between Pa and Uncle Sedge, its most obvious manifestation being an allergy to work in any form.

Of course, this picture, like all its predecessors, is dominated by the lusty personality of Marjorie Main as Ma. She's in great form and gives her fans a special treat by lifting her "voice" in song and doing a spot of dancing in an amusing hillbilly party sequence.

AND UNA MERKEL Hunnicutt is his usual hilarious self and does a nice job as the indolent, shiftless but sly Sedge. He gives a performance that is a masterpiece both in action and speech.

Another newcomer to the series is that expert comedienne, Una Merkel, portraying a hopeful spinster who has been Sedge's "intended" for some 20 years. She's delightful as she waits on him hand and foot, while he offers no resistance at all.

The youngsters are there en masse, all dozen or so of them, and they get into more mischief than ever, proving a mighty headache for everyone except the audience. Good family entertainment.

—DAN COGGIN.

S.E. DeKalb Section To Get First Water Main

Laying of a four-mile water main will begin in southeastern DeKalb County Friday in an area which has not had water supplied to it before.

The main will be along Panola road between Lithonia and Stone Mountain, according to W. H. Weaver, DeKalb Water Dept. head. Weaver reported that the main is to run from three-fourths of a mile south of the Covington highway on Panola road to one-half mile south of Klondike road. The main will serve 55 property owners and will have a 1,200-family capacity.

Weaver added that the 55 property owners have agreed to pay double and triple the normal DeKalb water rate of $2 per month to finance the project until additional property owners have moved into the area.

Parking Meter Hailed As Motorists' Friend

By HAROLD RHODEN

Atlanta's pesky, coin-consuming parking meters help straighten the kinks out of the city's traffic muscles.

Besides providing a constant supply of parking spaces in the downtown areas, they pay for signs and markings which actually help the motorist in his driving.

These traffic aids, Karl A. Bevins, city engineer says, would either be eliminated or would require additional city taxes if the meters weren't in.

The yearly take—an estimated $390,000—pays for center lines, lane arrows, signs—even the salaries of men in the maintenance department of the traffic division.

Meter revenue is earmarked for traffic improvement and placed in the traffic control account, a separate fund from other accounts, Bevins said.

Meters were installed in Atlanta in June, 1952.

To get meters in a certain street now, merchants or residents must notify the city of their desire for them—and the requests are given careful consideration.

Each of the 3,451 meters averages collecting about $2.41 a week, the city engineer said. The original 247 meters on Courtland and Cone streets averaged about $3.31 a week.

But collections fluctuate. For the week ending Feb. 11, 1956, the meters collected $7,672.51. The week before they collected $8,002.80 and the week before that, $8,315.45.

Inclement weather, holidays and business changes all contribute to the meters' changes, Bevins said.

Military Engineers Honor 2 at Tech

Two Georgia Tech Naval ROTC students have been selected for national engineering awards of the Society of American Military Engineers.

They are Richard W. DeVane, mechanical engineering senior of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., and Donald C. Brown, electrical engineering junior from Tallahassee, Fla.

What's the best way to reduce...

eat what you want...or starve yourself?

Starve yourself? Wrong! A half-empty stomach causes "hunger tantrums". Makes you nibble between meals, probably stuff yourself at your next meal. Rigid starvation diets are not only dangerous but usually don't work. Frequent between meal nibbling often makes you gain more.

With the R.D.X. "Full-Stomach" Plan you fill your stomach. In this way you avoid "hunger tantrums". You lose weight naturally and fast. The R.D.X. Plan includes a scientific, clinically-tested formula that helps you cut down your craving for fattening foods. You fill your stomach with what you need, suffer no "hunger tantrums". You lose as many overweight pounds as you wish...or money back.

Get pleasant-tasting R.D.X. tablets today. Safe—contains no dangerous drugs, no hormones. Follow the R.D.X. "Full-Stomach" Reducing Plan. Lose ugly fat yet eat plenty.

The largest award of $150 went to Miss Virginia Smith, a control clerk in the Atlanta regional office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Miss Smith, the second FMCS clerical employee in the nation to win an outstanding performance rating, received a certificate here from Clyde M. Mills, assistant FMCS director. She received the cash award here from regional director William S. Pierce.

Also receiving cash awards were General Services Administration employees B. M. Stanley, $25; Mrs. Edith Glasco, $20; J. C. Larramore, $10; E. L. Pilgrim, $20; Miss Frances Hampton, $15; and Mrs. Helene Crowley, $10.

Accounting Topic

William A. Newnan Jr., deputy director of the U.S. GAO's accounting and auditing division, will be speaker at a meeting of the Atlanta Chapter of the Federal Government Accountants' Assn. at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 12, at the Atlanta Naval Air Station.

Newman will discuss "New Government Accounting Office and Defense Audit Plans of Particular Interest to Defense Department personnel."

Modern airliners require a reserved block of air space almost 30 miles long, during instrument flight, as a safeguard against collision.

Head of ACL Puts No-Limit Faith in South

A. L. M. Wiggins, board chairman of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, expressed "unbounded confidence in the South" here Thursday.

Discussing the "dynamism" of the South, Wiggins said he sees an "amazing, promising" future for this area.

"This is a new industrial South," he declared. "We see atomic projects, chemical projects and electronics projects everywhere we look."

Wiggins said the South now has some of the country's strongest banks.

"We never had money for anything 10 years ago," he observed. The railroad executive and L&N president J. E. Tilford were among officers and directors of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad on a special tour of large cities on the L&N line. The group was host to Atlanta business leaders at a Tuesday night dinner.

Cotton Rally Runs to $1.65

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents to $1.65 a bale higher today. Price movements were erratic. Traders were uncertain as to the import of Washington developments on the cotton program next season.

In early dealings the market rose as much as $1.30 a bale, with profit-taking and spot house selling in new crop months reversing the upturn, and the market gave up a good measure of the gains before a late rally set in.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

'Gimme Type' Prayer Not Based on Logic

Link J., 20, is in our military services.

"Dr. Crane, I never grew up in a religious home," he confessed.

"My folks drank and caroused around. They never sent me to Sunday school.

"But I met a girl a year ago who got me to going to church. And I think the world of her.

"Now I want to be a Christian and lead a good life. But I don't know how to pray. I feel awkward about it.

"Do you yourself ever pray, or is it true that psychologists ridicule religion?"

HOW TO PRAY

No, most of our psychologists are outstanding leaders in moral organizations and active in the church.

Oh, there are a few smart alecks who have the desire to shock people and be iconoclasts, but you'll find that breed in every profession.

In answer to Link's question as to whether I pray, I can reply that I certainly do and every day!

Prayer is conversation with God. It can occur at any time and you don't even need bow your head, for God likes straight talk.

And prayers should not be constantly of the "gimme" variety wherein we constantly ask for personal favors.

"Please help me get well," or "Please see that I get an 'A' grade on my examination" or "Please let me win Rosalie for my wife," are evidences of the "gimme" type of prayer.

It is proper to ask God for help, but sandwich some "Thank you" remarks in between.

MATURE PRAYERS

Remember, too, that we psychologists recommend that college grades be awarded on the "curve" basis with about 10 per cent "A's" grades. In a class of 20 students, that means only 2 would get "A's."

If you have wished on your studying during the year and have played poker or dated pretty coeds when other more diligent students stuck to their textbooks, would it be fair for

AN HONORABLE DECEPTION!

A Rhyme a Day

"Now! A startling new liquid wax that will not show scuffs or streaks and goes on so-o-o-o-o easy!"—TV commercial.

Since winter has relaxed its hold . . . and we no longer feel its cold . . . and clammy fingers at our throat . . . I think I'll pawn my overcoat . . . and buy my gentle wife a can . . . of wax, which I think any man . . . should do if he would realize . . . that even the small-sample size . . . would be enough to keep the floor . . . well polished for six weeks or more.

Then, if there are no scuffs or streaks . . . or stains in six or seven weeks . . . I'll take the rest of what I get . . . and make a modest little bet . . . that I can sell the Army Corps . . . at least ten-million cans or more . . . to armor-plate their guns and tanks . . . and earn their everlasting thanks.

To test its strength I will begin . . . by bringing our grandchildren in . . . on roller skates or pogo sticks . . . and if that doesn't mar the "spicks" . . . and "spans" and other "shines" and "sheens" . . . we'll use it on the submarines . . . the battleships and fighting jets . . . and I'll express my deep regrets . . . for having doubted all that stuff . . . about, "it will not streak or scuff."

God to grant you an "A"?

Suppose those dutiful, hard-working students are also asking God for an "A" grade. Who should get it?

If you are an athlete but haven't lived up to your training rules whereas an opponent has, and both ask God to help them win the race, would it be fair for God to help the slacker?

I mention these things because you must pray like mature adults instead of wishful thinking toddlers.

GOD IS CHANGEABLE

God is not to be approached as Santa Claus! He is the epitome of logic and rationality, so your prayers must make sense.

And it is not true that God is fixed and unchangeable. Moses proved that logical arguments could persuade God to change his mind, as in Exodus 32:10, after the Israelites had coaxed Aaron to make them a Golden Calf, God said:

"Now, therefore, let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot against them, and that I may consume them: and I will make of thee a great nation."

But Moses unselfishly argued in defense of the people until God consented to give them another chance.

So God listens to sound reasons, especially when advanced in an unselfish cause.

God also likes spontaneous and original prayers rather than memorized statements uttered mechanically.

Ga. Student Press To Hear Curtis Official

Constitution State News Service
ATHENS, April 5 — Don A. Brennan, manager, community relations bureau, Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, will address the 29th annual convention of the Georgia Scholastic Press Assn. at the University of Georgia's Henry W. Grady School of Journalism May 4.

Brennan's address will be from the standpoint of magazines during that portion of the program devoted to "Career Opportunities in the Great Growing Communications Field."

Ernest Rogers, Atlanta Journal columnist, and author of the new book "Peachtree Parade," will speak during the same part of the program from the standpoint of newspapering.

The GSPA convention will bring 1,000 representatives of high school newspapers and yearbooks and their faculty advisers. There will be a full day's program consisting of addresses, workshops, a luncheon and the awarding of prizes. Others prominent in the communications field and education will speak.

Brennan is a former newspaper editor and weekly newspaper publisher and was an advertising executive with a nationwide merchandising organization. For several years he traveled extensively in the United States with a national newspaper service. He is a former president of the Philadelphia Guild of Advertising Men, a member of the City Business Club of Philadelphia and a member of the Philadelphia Rotary Club.

April Showers Mean Bridal Parties and Refreshment Ideas

By JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

April showers bring plans for brides. And that means new ideas for refreshments are in order.

Whether you're entertaining with a luncheon or a simple dessert party the thrill of serving something different is well worth the effort it takes.

The joy of these suggestions is that very little effort is actually required. Pretty colors, unusual flavors and gay garnishes take the place of complicated preparation.

The shower cake that carries its own umbrellas is a good example of elegant simplicity. The cake can be made from a mix or this easy-to-follow recipe. Decorate the top with tiny paper umbrellas and small candy flowers.

APRIL SHOWERS CAKE

3 cups sifted enriched flour 2 cups sugar
3 tps. baking powder 1 cup milk
1 tsp. salt 1½ tps. vanilla extract
1 cup shortening 6 egg whites, stiffly beaten

1. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. 2. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. 3. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk and vanilla extract. 4. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Blend well. Pour into two greased paper-lined 9-inch layer pans. 5. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes. 6. When cool, frost with Fluffy Frosting and decorate.

FLUFFY FROSTING

2 egg whites, unbeaten 1 tsp. light corn sirup
1½ cups sugar Dash salt
5 tps. cold water 1 tsp. vanilla extract

1. Combine egg whites, sugar, water, corn sirup and salt in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. 2. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary beater until mixture will hold a peak (about seven minutes). Remove from heat. 3. Add vanilla extract and beat until well blended. Cool. 4. A small quantity of the frosting may be tinted with a few drops of food coloring and used for decoration.

These meringues hold a promise to delight all of your guests. Take your egg beater in hand soon and have some real fun making these peach melba meringues.

PEACH MELBA MERINGUE

MERINGUE: 4 egg whites 6 cooked peach halves, drained
½ tsp. vinegar 1 package frozen raspberries
1 tsp. vanilla (1 to 2 cups)
¼ tsp. salt 1 tsp. cornstarch
1 cup sugar
½ cup rolled oats

1. Add vinegar, vanilla and salt to egg whites. 2. Beat to a stiff foam. 3. Add sugar very gradually, about a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. 4. Continue beating until mixture stands in lustrous peaks. 5. Lightly stir in the rolled oats. 6. Place heavy brown paper on cookie sheet. 7. For each meringue, drop egg white mixture by tablespoons to form a circle on the paper. 8. Five mounds make a nice-sized meringue. (Leave the center hollow and be sure the edges of the spoonfuls touch so meringue will hold together.) 9. Bake in a very slow oven (275 degrees) 45 minutes to one hour. Cool for a few minutes, then remove from paper.

10. Place a peach half on top of each meringue. 11. Pour thickened raspberry sauce (made by stirring cornstarch into defrosted raspberries and heating until thickened, stirring occasionally) over peach halves. Serve immediately.

Snow-White Cake Ready for a Shower in Spring Wedding Fashion

Blushing Pears For Parties

Assorted salads cater to every taste and appetite. Here is a pretty one to add to a platter of special recipes for spring parties.

BLUSHING PEARS

1 can (1 lb., 13 oz.) pear halves
1 package (9 oz.) cream cheese
¼ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 tbs. maraschino cherries, cut
2 lbs. currant or apple jelly

1. Soften and whip cream cheese. 2. Blend in nuts, pineapple, cherries and jelly. 3. Stir until smooth and uniform in color. 4. Spread filling generously between two pear halves. Press pear halves together, forming a whole pear. Chill.

CENTER A FRUIT SALAD PLATE WITH FIRST STRAWBERRIES OF SPRING
Circle With Peaches, Grapefruit, Avocado and Cream Cheese-Stuffed Prunes

Strawberries in All Their Glory Centering a Fruit Salad Platter

The first strawberries of the season deserve special treatment. In fact, they are best decked out in their own natural glory.

This fruit platter shows a variety of fruit to the very best advantage and it includes fresh canned and dried fruit.

First, circle a mound of bright red strawberries with canned cling peach halves, filling with grapefruit sections and avocado slices.

Add a few fluted banana slices and some cream cheese-stuffed prunes and you have a colorful patio fruit platter. For the dressing blend half honey and half lemon juice.

EL PATIO FRUIT PLATTER

1 No. 2½ can cling peach halves
1 cup strawberries
Romaine
1 avocado
Lemon juice
Salt
1 large grapefruit
10 cooked prunes
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
2 tablespoons peach syrup or prune liquid
1 banana
Mint sprigs
Lemon-honey dressing

1. Drain peaches and arrange in ring around strawberries on crisp romaine. 2. Cut avocado into halves and remove seed and skin. Cut crosswise in slices and sprinkle with lemon juice and salt. 3. Pare and section grapefruit. Drain and pit prunes. 4. Soften cheese with a fork and blend in peach syrup. 5. Fill pitted prunes with cheese. Cut banana into thick slices.

Alternate grapefruit sections and avocado slices between peaches. 6. Circle with banana slices and stuffed prunes.

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE

¼ package zwieback
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup margarine, melted
1½ cups fresh or frozen strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
3 eggs, separated
¼ tsp. salt

1. Roll zwieback very fine and combine with sugar. 2. Stir in melted margarine. Press firmly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan and bake in 325-degree oven, moderately slow heat, for 10 minutes. Cool.

3. Place washed, hulled berries in a bowl, reserving a few for garnish, and cut through several times with a knife. 4. Sprinkle ¼ cup sugar over berries and let stand 30 minutes. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. 5. Beat egg yolks slightly. Drain ¼ cup juice from berries and combine with yolks.

6. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat. 7. Stir in gelatin and chill until slightly thickened. Fold in berries.

8. Beat salt and ¼ cup sugar into stiff-beaten egg whites and fold into gelatin mixture. 9. Pour into shell and chill until firm. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream and strawberries.

Toasty Cheese Sticks 'Make' Spring Suppers

Hot, toasty cheese sticks will add zip to "most any spring supper. Remember that accompaniments can often "make" a meal. These, based on a simple biscuit recipe, are sure to do just that.

You'll like their preparation ease. Just add a cup of shredded nippy cheese to the biscuit dough before you blend in milk. Cheese gives this quick bread a golden color and taste tang. Complement cheese sticks with a flavorful salad. Tomato aspic on leaf lettuce will be just right.

Serve hot breads often with spring meals. They give a menu that finishing touch.

CHEESE STICKS

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup shortening
1 cup shredded nippy cheese
 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 cup milk

1. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. 2. Add cheese, mixing well. Add milk to make a thick batter, stirring until flour is well moistened. 3. Using 2 forks, drop batter stretching in long narrow "sticks" about 1x6 inches on greased baking sheet. 4. Press sides smooth. 5. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 to 14 cheese sticks.

Economical Slant To Main Dish

An easy and economical main dish is made by heating together 1 cup shredded cheese and a 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ -ounce can tomato soup. Pour over drained cooked dry lima and top with strips of bacon. Slip into moderate oven until heated through and bacon is crisp.

Broiled Chicken Takes Flavor From Sauce

Broiled chicken takes on good flavor when it is brushed with barbecue sauce during the broiling. Extra barbecue sauce may be heated and brought to the table with the chicken. Good with a big bowl of hot steamed rice and a green salad.

Muffin Topping

French Toast of French Bread For Rich, Continental Look

Your breakfast French toast becomes quite continental when you make it from a loaf of French bread.

The bread cuts into pretty serving size ovals of any thickness you prefer. It browns beautifully after being dipped in a rich mixture of undiluted evaporated milk, eggs and butter.

And with the continental French toast serve either honey butter sauce or molasses butter sauce—or both if you want to give a choice. The sauces are made in a jiffy with equal parts of undiluted evaporated milk, butter and honey mixed together and heated.

The consistency is just right for easy pouring and both sauces are pleasantly sweet and rich.

CONTINENTAL FRENCH TOAST

1/4 tsp. salt
1 tall can evaporated milk (1-2/3 cups)
2 to 3 tbsps. butter.
1 medium size loaf French bread, sliced

1. Beat eggs in a 9-inch pie pan until yolks and whites are thoroughly blended. Stir in salt and milk. 2. Melt sufficient butter in a large fry pan to cover bottom of pan. 3. Heat slowly until butter bubbles, being careful not to burn. Dip bread in egg mixture, turning once, and let stand just until bread is moist all the way through, but not too soft to handle. 4. Cook in the butter over medium heat until brown on under side. 5. Turn and brown on other side. Add additional butter as needed to keep the fry pan well greased. 6. Serve very hot with Honey Butter Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

HONEY BUTTER SAUCE

1/2 cup butter (1/4 pound)
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup honey

1. Melt butter in a small sauce pan. 2. Stir in milk and honey. Keep over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is smoothly blended. Do not boil. 4. Serve hot or cold over French toast. Makes 1 1/4 cups. 1/2 cup molasses may be used in place of honey, if desired.

FRENCH TOAST With Special Sauces

Strawberries, Whipped Cream In Cookie Tarts

Strawberries and whipped cream are delightful when served in cookie tarts.

Sift together 1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cream together 1/2 cup shortening and 1/2 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add 1 egg and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract and mix thoroughly.

Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, stirring only enough to combine ingredients. Chill. Roll out 1/4 inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch cookie cutter. Line ungreased 3-inch muffin cups with 4 cookies, overlapping edges about 1/4 inch.

Place enough dough in bottom to cover open space. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 cookie tarts.

Serve Tomato Stew Over Rice or Toast

Thicken a can of stewed tomatoes and serve over rice or toast with strips of crisply cooked bacon for a delicious luncheon dish. Canned whole-kernel corn or green peas may be added to the tomatoes.

FRESH ASPARAGUS, SPRINGTIME SPECIAL
Mock Hollandaise Sauce Is the Crowning Glory

Fresh Asparagus for Tender Turkey Divan

A spring combination that can't be beat is this fresh asparagus turkey divan. Tender stalks of asparagus cover slices of flavorful spring turkey.

ASPARAGUS TURKEY DIVAN

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
1 cup light cream
1 1/4 cups milk
1/4 cup sherry
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg yolk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 bunches fresh asparagus, cooked
6 to 12 slices cooked turkey

1. Melt 6 tablespoons butter or margarine in top of double boiler and blend in flour. 2. Add cream and milk, stirring well. Cook until mixture thickens, stirring frequently. 3. Add sherry and 1/2 cup grated cheese; cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. 4. Combine egg yolk, salt and pepper, add small amount of sauce to egg yolk, beat until smooth, and add to sauce in double boiler. Cover and simmer. 5. Melt remaining butter or margarine. Arrange turkey in shallow baking dish, place asparagus over turkey, pour melted butter over and top with cream sauce. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. 6. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

One way to vary your preparation of this welcome vegetable is by serving it with green pepper rings and a mock Hollandaise sauce. It will not only have eye appeal but is a fine flavor combination.

Lemon and butter combined make a sauce that is perfect for most green vegetables. If a mock Hollandaise sauce is made, you will have none of the worry that you might have with the real kind.

The golden yellow sauce is a perfect color contrast to the bright green asparagus and a flavor treat you will want to try often.

ASPARAGUS TIPS IN GREEN PEPPER RINGS

6 thin green pepper rings (1 large pepper)
1. Cook asparagus in 1 inch boiling, salted water in a tightly covered saucepan about 20 minutes or until stalks are tender. 2. Remove; drain and keep hot. 3. Place about 5 stalks of asparagus through each green pepper ring. Serve with Mock Hollandaise Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Serve Roast Pork With Baked Bananas

Good side-kick for roast pork: halve bananas lengthwise and spread with soft butter or margarine; top with hot cranberry sauce and bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes.

Use canned whole cranberry sauce and break it up as you heat it in a small saucepan on top of the range.

Pork Sausage Gets New Ideas as Entree For Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner and Snacks

Rich and full flavored pork sausage lends itself to interesting menu entrees for morning, noon, and night.

Whether in links, patties, rolls or packages, simply cooked pork sausage combines well with a variety of fruits and vegetables for meals that are memorable for good eating and thriftiness.

These four sausage ideas may be used individually as the entree of a meal; individually as a garnish for a meat platter of broiled steaks or chops, for example; or as a group for the main course of a buffet supper.

First on the platter are sausage balls in clove-studded peach halves. Canned cling peaches hold the zesty sausage balls, which may be as large as preferred.

For quick cooking, shape two or three smaller balls for each peach cavity.

SAUSAGE BALLS IN PEACH HALVES

1 lb. sausage meat
1 tblsp. grated onion.
1/4 cup bread crumbs

1 tspn. salt
1/4 tspn. pepper
8 canned peach halves
32 cloves (optional)

1. Mix sausage, onion, crumbs, salt and pepper; shape into eight balls. 2. Arrange peaches, cut side up, in baking dish. Stud edges of each peach half with 4 cloves. 3. Arrange sausage balls in peaches. 4. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees or until sausage is well browned and no trace of pink remains. 5. Baste twice during baking. 4 servings. (Smaller balls require less baking.)

Smaller sausage balls are used for the stuffed mushrooms, the third idea of plattered sausages pictured on the preceding page. The fresh mushrooms need only washing before they are filled, and a short stay in the oven readies them for serving.

SAUSAGE STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1/2 lb. sausage meat
2 tspns. grated onion
1/4 cup bread crumbs
1/2 tspn. salt
1/4 tspn. pepper

12-18 large mushrooms
1. Mix sausage, onion, crumbs, salt and pepper. 2. Wash mushrooms, dry and remove stems. 3. Chop stems finely and stir into sausage mixture. Form into balls and place in mushroom caps. 4. Arrange mushrooms in baking dish and bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes, basting once. 4 servings.

Cooked pork sausage links are used for the sausage-stuffed green pepper rings and the skewered sausage chunks with pineapple.

To prepare the links so they will be plump, juicy, well browned, and thoroughly cooked, follow these directions: Place links in a cold skillet. Do not prick the skins. Add 3 tablespoons water, cover, and cook 5 minutes. Uncover and drain off any water. Cook links over low heat, turning

SAUSAGE LINKS IN GREEN PEPPER RINGS: Pan-fry green pepper rings in sausage drippings 3 to 4 minutes. Arrange two or three cooked pork sausage links in each ring; serve immediately.

SKEWERED SAUSAGE CHUNKS WITH PINEAPPLE: Cut cooked pork sausage links into thirds, then thread on skewers alternating with pineapple chunks. End each skewer with a pickled onion. Broil until heated through.

BUYING AND STORING

year around, and therefore should be purchased in amounts for only one or two family meals. For best flavor, use it within a day or two after purchase. Since pork sausage deteriorates rapidly in flavor when frozen, it is not recommended for storage in home

After-School Snack

Mix sugar, grated orange rind and orange juice. Spread on hot buttered toast and then run under the broiler! Nice for after-school snacks.

At last—a LIGHT banana cream pie!

RECIPE

"MAGIC CRYSTALS" BANANA CREAM PIE

(Makes single-crust 9" pie)

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups CARNATION INSTANT mixed with 2 1/2 cups water
2 eggs

3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 medium bananas
9" baked pie shell or crumb crust made with vanilla wafers

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler. Add liquid Carnation Instant, mix well. Cook over hot water until thickened (15-20 minutes), stirring occasionally. Add small amount hot Carnation Instant mixture to beaten eggs; mix and return to milk mixture over hot water. Cook 4-5 minutes longer. Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla. Cool; then pour part of filling into pie shell. Slice bananas over filling; pour remaining filling over bananas. Just before serving, top with whipped Carnation Instant.

YES, CARNATION INSTANT WHIPS!

FOR 3 CUPS whipped topping with 1/2 less calories: 1. Mix 1/2 cup Carnation Instant "Magic Crystals" with 1/2 cup cold water in bowl. Beat until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. 2. Continue beating until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes more). Fold in 1/4 cup sugar; arrange on pie.

The secret is CARNATION—the "Magic Crystals" INSTANT!

Never before a banana cream pie so light, so tender. Light in calories, too. The secret is "Magic Crystals" that burst into fresh milk flavor, without heavy fat. Even the luscious topping is whipped Carnation Instant Nonfat Milk. Delicious for drinking, too—nutritious, with all the protein, all the calcium and B-vitamins of fresh, whole milk. Color Contrast, Pink Rhubarb In Rich Batter Pretty pink rhubarb makes a tart contrast to a rich batter topping. Serve this pudding with sweet or dairy sour cream.

Combine 2 cups rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces (about 1/2 pound); 1 orange, cut in small pieces (if desired); and 2-3 cup sugar. Divide mixture evenly into 6 greased custard cups.

Sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cream together 1/4 cup shortening and 1/2 cup sugar. Add 1 egg and beat well. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract to 1-3 cup milk.

Add to creamed mixture. Stir until smooth. Drop batter onto rhubarb mixture, almost filling custard cups. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

THERE'S MORE THAN ONE USE FOR GROUND BEEF. HERE'S THREE
Chinese Hamburgers, Ground Beef Steak Supreme and an Easy Ground Beef Dinner

Ground Beef Takes on New Variety In Three Main Dish Recipes

A pound of ground beef in the refrigerator means the makings of any one of many different main dishes for any kind of meal.

Ground beef, the most versatile meat you can buy, can be served at luncheons, suppers, buffets, snacks, and even formal dinners.

This meat is always economical and currently, with supplies of beef plentiful, it's selling at prices more attractive than ever.

Next time you're debating about the menu for a party dinner, select this elegant ground beef steak with savory mushroom sauce. The ground meat is shaped into a large "steak" patty, richly seasoned with onion and celery, and cooked with the sauce.

GROUND BEEF STEAK SUPREME

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
3 tblsp. minced onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 can mushroom soup
1/2 cup water

1. Combine ground beef, crumbs, egg, salt, pepper, onion and celery. 2. Shape into an oblong patty about one inch thick. 3. Brown in a skillet in hot fat. Carefully turn (use two spatulas) and brown other side. 4. Dilute mushroom soup with water, blending until smooth. Pour over meat and cook on top of range over low heat 25 minutes. Four servings.

5. When doubling the recipe, shape the meat mixture into two "steaks," brown them separately in the skillet and then transfer to a long baking dish. 6. Pour the sauce over the meat and bake in a 325-degree oven 25 minutes.

Change the procedure, change the seasonings, and another version of ground beef is ready. This is an easy supper dish, tastily seasoned with diced celery, chili sauce, and basil. Serve this sauce-like mixture over noodles, rice, macaroni or halved baked potatoes.

EASY GROUND BEEF SUPPER

1 cup coarsely chopped onions
2 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup chopped celery leaves
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1. Cook onions in hot fat until soft; add ground beef and brown. 2. Add remaining ingredients, cover, and simmer 30 minutes. 3. Thicken with a flour and water paste, if necessary, and serve over noodles or rice. 4. servings.

For snacks or a family supper, nothing tops hamburgers in popularity. Here is a recipe for some unusual hamburgers: their surprise is a bean sprout-soy sauce topping. Buttered, toasted buns make a crunchy contrast to the meat.

CHINESE HAMBURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
4 tablespoons water
1 can bean sprouts
Soy sauce
4 hamburger buns.

1. Combine first six ingredients, shape into patties and pan-

Strawberries Fill Scone Ring

Strawberries served in a scone ring make a glorious dessert.

Sift together 3 cups sifted enriched flour, 4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 4 1/2 teaspoons sugar. Cut in 6 tablespoons shortening. Beat 2 eggs.

Add 1 1/2 cups milk to beaten eggs and add all to flour mixture. Stir only until flour is moistened. Pour batter into greased 9-inch ring mold. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

When baked, unmold and fill center with about 1 1/2 quarts sweetened strawberries. Garnish top and sides with whole berries. Makes 8 servings.

2. Drain bean sprouts and heat in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a skillet, adding soy sauce to suit taste (about 2 teaspoons.) 3. Place burgers on buttered, toasted bun halves, spoon some of the juices left in the pan over the meat, top with bean sprout mixture and bun halves. 4. servings.

Party Treat; Grape Cubes in Ginger Ale

Freeze undiluted grape juice in the ice-cube tray of your refrigerator. Serve two or three of the cubes in a tall glass of ginger ale.

Nice at a party for young people.

Serving Sauerkraut

Heat sauerkraut (canned) with a little brown sugar and caraway seed. Serve with frankfurters.

Orange Crisps, A Refrigerator Cookie 'Quickie'

An unbaked roll of cookie dough in your refrigerator is assurance of a tasty "company" snack in minutes. Try flavorful orange crisps.

Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cream together 1/2 cup shortening and 1 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add 1 egg. Beat well.

Add 2 teaspoons grated lem-

RATH CHOP-ETTES

BREADED, BONELESS

Pork, Veal or Beef Chop-ettes

QUICK... DELICIOUS... MAN-SIZED MEALS are easy with Rath's new Chop-ettes. For Chop-ettes are boneless "chops" of quality meat, ready to serve in 4 to 7 minutes.

NO DEFROSTING. Pan fry 'em, still frozen, or let them bubble to a golden brown in your deep-fat kettle. They'll be crisp and crusty on the outside, moist and tender on the inside.

QUALITY CORN-FED MEAT... with that straight-from-the-farm goodness that has made Rath Black Hawk Ham and Bacon famous. Choose juicy Pork, tender Veal or hearty Beef Chop-ettes. Each variety is chopped, breaded in a real egg batter, then quick-frozen to seal in all those natural meat juices.

NO BONES, NO WASTE... every last bit is good, thrifty, protein-rich eating. Serve new Rath Black Hawk Chop-ettes for nourishing lunches (children love 'em) for plain or fancy dinners. They're easy, quick, delicious! About 17c a serving

Sandwiches For Breakfast

Sandwiches for breakfast? Of course, if you make them with French toast. French cream sandwiches will be a real breakfast surprise for the family.

For the filling, combine a 3-ounce package cream cheese and an 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Mix until creamy. Use this filling to make 4 sandwiches. Cut each sandwich in half. Combine 1 egg, beaten, 1/4 cup milk and a dash of salt. Dip each side of sandwiches into egg mixture and brown quickly on both sides in butter or margarine in skillet. Serve hot.

Flavorful Quick Bread

Lima Bean Scallop With Meat

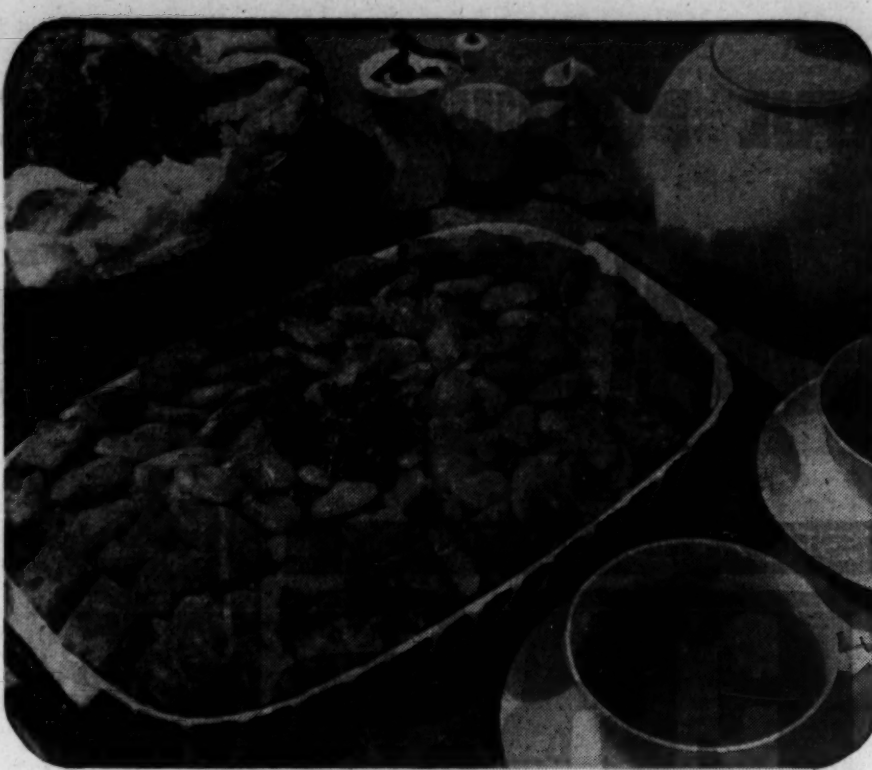

Here is a supper menu your family and friends will just love. It's inexpensive, delicious and easy to prepare.

Serve it either as a buffet or a sit-down supper.

Lima-Bean Scallop, green salad, hot rolls, relishes, home-made apple pie and cheese, and tea with milk, lemon and sugar.

LIMA-BEAN SCALLOP

- 1 lb. quick cooking dried lima beans
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 cups boiling water
- 1 12-oz. can luncheon meat cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 green pepper, diced
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce
- 1 can condensed tomato soup
1. Wash and drain beans. 2. Turn into deep kettle. Add salt and boiling water. 3. Simmer until tender, about 1 hour. Drain. 4. Sauté onions and green pepper until tender. Remove from skillet and add to drained beans. 5. Lightly brown meat. Combine with bean mixture. 6. Add 2 teaspoons salt and tabasco sauce. Mix. 7. Arrange in a baking dish. 8. Mix together condensed soup with enough liquid to make two cups. 9. Pour over bean mixture. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees) for 1 hour.

Treat Your Family to A Tuna Pie

Make this "Tuna Pie" with a can of tuna, a cup of ripe olives, some milk, eggs and seasonings. Bake the mixture in a pastry-lined pie pan. Serve with broccoli topped with Hollandaise sauce, and your family will agree they're well fed.

- TUNA PIE
- 1 cup ripe olives
 - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1 cup milk
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 (6 1/2 or 7-ounce) can tuna
 - 1 diced pimiento
- Pastry for single 8-inch crust
1. Cut olives into large pieces.
 2. Cook onion in butter until transparent. 3. Add milk and heat to scalding. 4. Pour slowly over lightly beaten eggs. Add olives, drained, finely flaked tuna and pimiento. 5. Turn into pastry-lined pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake about 25 minutes longer, or until set. 6. Cool 5 or 10 minutes before serving. Makes five to six servings.

Attractive Platter Doubles As Centerpiece and Meal

Gay colors of carrots and brussels sprouts predominate in this green and gold platter which makes as attractive a centerpiece as you could want for your supper table. It's such an easy meal to put together, too. Just cook carrots and brussels sprouts, and arrange on a platter with macaroni in mushroom sauce. The mushroom sauce demonstrates how low-cost macaroni foods perform in good-to-eat, nourishing meals.

GREEN AND GOLD PLATTER

- 4 ounces elbow macaroni
 - 1 cup condensed cream of mushroom soup (10-ounce can)
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
- Cooked buttered brussels sprouts
Cooked buttered whole carrots

1. Add 2 teaspoons salt and macaroni to 3 cups boiling water. 2. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. 3. Meanwhile, gradually add milk to mushroom soup and stir until smooth and well blended. 4. Add salt and pepper. 5. Rinse macaroni with warm water and drain well. 6. Heat soup mixture to boiling point and fold in macaroni. 7. Arrange on hot platter with rows of carrots and brussels sprouts. Makes 4 servings.

NOW! A tender-FROZEN BONELESS BEEF RIB ROAST!

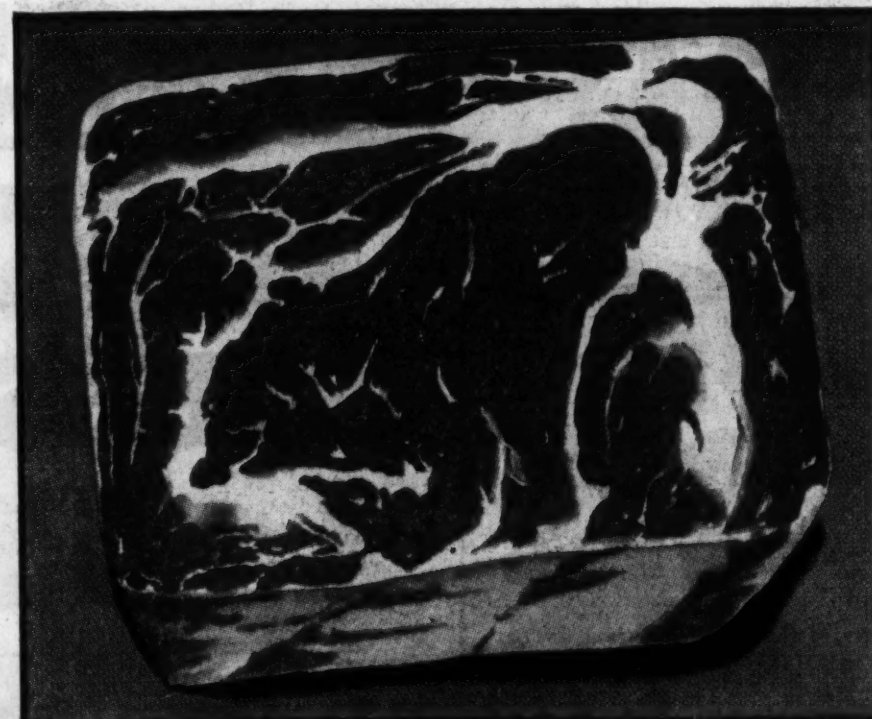

Swift's Premium-Sealed Fresh in Foil!

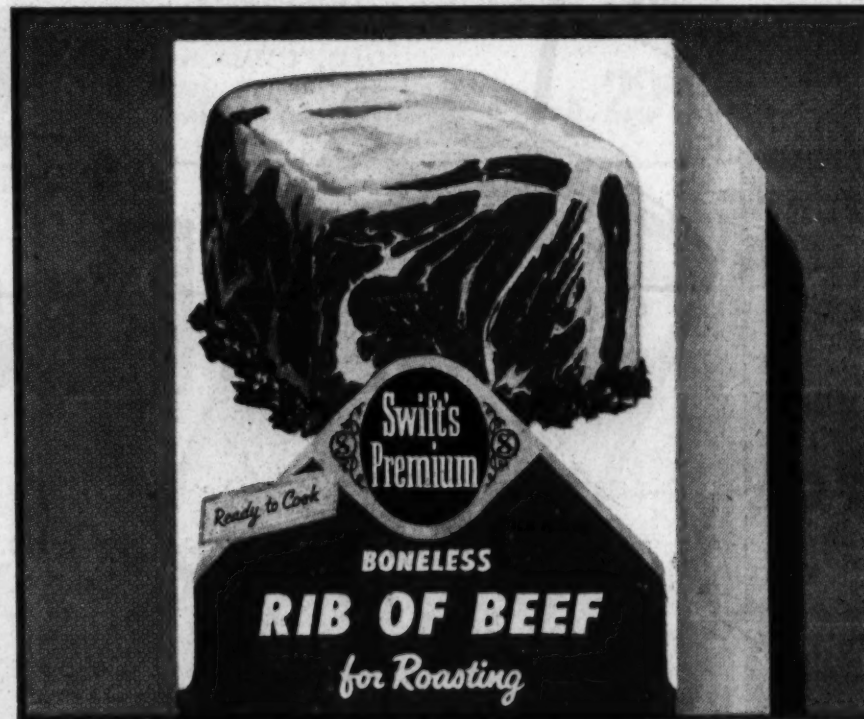

1. Here's the prize kind of standing ribs that Swift starts with. Each piece meets exacting standards of uniformity, tenderness and flavor... every time!

2. Wasteful Parts Trimmed Away! This picture shows this same beautiful meat—but with bone, excess fat and gristle removed. Quality considered, it's a buy!

3. Boneless—for the world's easiest carving! Just slice it! Uniform portions every time. Quick freezing seals in tenderness, too, with natural juiciness.

4. The modern way to buy meat! Neat! Cut, trimmed, tender-FROZEN, sealed fresh in gleaming foil. Approximately 4 and 6 lb. packages. Ready for cooking—or the freezer.

Imagine getting real family-size roasts all trimmed, frozen and packaged! You even have your choice: Beef Rib and Pot Roast, Pork Loin Roast, Veal Roast or Leg o' Lamb! Swift now brings them to you completely boneless so they carve like magic! Swift has also created wonderful new kinds of steaks and chops—all boneless, too (except for lamb chops)—and all minus excess fat and gristle. What you buy is all meat—no waste! That's why this new convenience in meat fits every budget. Easier to store. Easier to prepare. And every piece is uniform—a value you can count on every time.

Brighten Angel Food Cake With Bits of Cherries

Bright bits of maraschino cherries and dainty slivered almonds make angel food cake extra festive. Gently fold $\frac{1}{2}$ cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries into cake batter.

Sprinkle $\frac{1}{2}$ cup slivered almonds over top and bake. With a sprinkling of powdered sugar

New Fillings In Pastry Tarts

Tender pastry tarts are delectable with a raisin-almond filling. Combine 1 cup chopped raisins with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup each sugar and almonds. Add tablespoon of orange juice and teaspoon of grated rind.

Boil slowly until thickened and cool before putting into tarts.

after the cake has cooled, no frosting is needed.

Sweet Potato Goes Glamorous During Plentiful Season

There are still plenty sweet potatoes left from last year's crop for adding glamor and taste appeal to early spring meals.

There are two kinds. Some sweet potatoes are dry, mealy and rather light yellow in color. Others, sometimes called yams, are deeper yellow, moist and sugary.

Sweet potatoes are not good keepers as a rule. So it's best to buy them in small lots and use them promptly.

USDA describes the sweet potato as a prize package of food values. A rich source of vitamin A, it also provides worthwhile quantities of vitamin C and small quantities of the B vitamin and minerals. It is a good source of energy, with a medium-sized potato providing about 150 calories.

Most recipes call for cooking sweet potatoes first in their jackets. The thin skin is easily removed after cooking and takes with it less of the underneath goodness than if the potato is peeled.

If, for a special dish, peeling is necessary, USDA suggests peeling thinly just before the potatoes are to be used. If necessary to peel ahead of time, put the pared potatoes in salted water to keep them from darkening.

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES
Pare sweet potatoes and cut in half; drop into enough boiling water (containing $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt) to just cover. For each sweet potato add 1 to 2 tablespoons honey (corn or maple syrup, or molasses) and 1 teaspoon table fat. Cover and boil until sweet potatoes are tender. If liquid has not cooked down enough by the time they are tender, remove cover and boil rapidly until a syrup is formed. Baste sweet potatoes occasionally with the syrup.

ORANGE SYRUP

1 tbsp. grated orange rind
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
2 tbsp. melted table fat

1. Pour syrup over sweet potatoes. 2. Bake in a very moderate oven (300 degrees) about 1 hour. 3. Baste with the syrup several times during baking. Six servings.

SWEET POTATO PUFF
To 3 cups mashed sweet potatoes add 2 beaten egg yolks,

2 tbsp. melted fat, 2 tbsp. sugar (if desired), and about $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt. Gradually add about $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk or orange juice and beat until light and fluffy. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup raisins (soaked 5 to 10 minutes in boiling water). Beat 2 egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into sweet potato mixture. Pile lightly into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes or until puffed and browned.

Fresh Spring Fruits Inspire Variety for Desserts

As happily received as spring's warm breezes are the delightful desserts you can concoct from fresh new-season fruits.

RHUBARB CHIFFON TARTS

1/2 cup water
2 pounds rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces
3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
Add water to rhubarb and cook until tender. Beat egg yolks. Add 1/2-cup sugar and beat until fluffy. Fold in cooled rhubarb. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add remaining 1/2 cup sugar, beating it in to make a meringue. Fold into the fruit mixture. Fill baked tart shells. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) until set, about 20 minutes.

Tender, rich dumplings top blueberry skillet pudding. Serve it warm with cream for a real treat.

BLUEBERRY SKILLET PUDDING

2 tblspns butter or margarine
1/2-cup sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups hot water
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 cups blueberries, fresh or frozen

1. Melt butter or margarine in heavy skillet or Dutch oven. 2. Combine sugar, corn starch, salt and cinnamon and stir into butter or margarine. 3. Add water and cook until clear and slightly thickened, stirring constantly. 4. Add lemon juice and berries. Bring to boiling and top with Dessert Dumplings.

DESSERT DUMPLINGS:

1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
1. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. 2. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. 3. Add milk to beaten egg and stir into flour mixture until flour is well moistened. 4. Drop by spoonfuls on top of boiling berry mixture.

Cook 10 minutes uncovered, then 10 minutes tightly covered on top of range. 5. Serve warm with cream, if desired. Makes about six servings.

Fresh peaches add their own very special appeal to this Peach Tortie during the summer. But you can also make it with frozen or canned peaches the year around:

PEACH TORTE

1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
3 egg whites
Peach custard
Confectioners' sugar

1. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. 2. Add shortening, milk and almond extract and beat two minutes at medium speed on electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. 3. Add egg whites and beat two minutes or 300 strokes longer. Bake in greased eight-inch-square pan in moderate oven (350 degrees)

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Friday, April 6, 1956 • 13-F

30 to 35 minutes. 4. When cool, slice through center to make two thin layers. 5. Spread Peach Custard on bottom layer. Top with other layer and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

PEACH CUSTARD:

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Dash salt
1 1/2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 cups sliced peaches
1. Combine sugar, flour, nutmeg and salt in top of double boiler. 2. Stir in milk and egg yolks and cook over boiling wa-

Something Old and Something New Featured In These Desserts of Fruit and Pudding

We constantly search for the new and the different today, but sometimes a "new" idea can be one that has merely been tucked away for a long time.

VANILLA BANANA PUDDING

1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
3/4 tsp. salt
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
4-oz. package vanilla wafers
1 lb. bananas, sliced
Vanilla meringue
1. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. 2. Add egg yolks and

1/2 cup of the milk. 3. Heat remaining milk and gradually stir into the egg and sugar mixture. 4. Cook over low heat or hot water until mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring constantly. Add vanilla extract. 5. Arrange vanilla wafers and sliced bananas in alternating layers in a 1-quart casserole, having vanilla wafers at the bottom layer and bananas on top. 6. Pour custard over all. Top with vanilla meringue. 7. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (325 degrees) 15 minutes or until brown. This is best served warm. Makes 6 servings.

Vanilla Meringue: Beat 2 egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in 3 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 teaspoon pure vanilla extract and continue beating until stiff. Spread over pudding.

APPLE PUDDING WITH VANILLA SAUCE

1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 tsp. salt
3/4 tsp. soda
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
3/4 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup sugar
1 egg

1 1/2 cups diced uncooked apples
Vanilla sauce

1. Sift the first 4 ingredients together and set aside for later use. 2. Cream butter or margarine with lemon rind, vanilla extract and sugar. Beat in egg. Stir in flour mixture. 3. Add apples and mix only until blended. 4. Turn into a greased 8x8x2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes or until done. 5. Serve warm, with vanilla sauce. Makes 9 servings.

Keep the Cookie Jar Filled With Easy-To-Do 'Jumbles'

Apple Rings, Bacon Accompany Pancakes

Cook bacon until crisp, then cook apple rings in the bacon fat. Sprinkle the apple rings with confectioners' sugar and serve, along with the crisp bacon, with pancakes.

Filling the cookie jar is no problem with a recipe that's easy to do even on a busy day. You'll appreciate the shortened method of mixing and the time allowed for chilling—for this is a cookie recipe that adapts itself to any irregular schedule. And, what good eating cookies these are! Chocolate prune jumbles are soft and chewy. They have a wonderful prune flavor and, of course, are excellent keepers. This recipe could well be one of grandmother's prize favorites, as it uses—sour cream, chocolate, prunes and walnuts—all those good things which make cookie eating so dear to the hearts of all children, regardless of age.

CHOCOLATE PRUNE JUMBLES
1 cup soft prunes
1/2 cup walnuts
2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup soft shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup commercial sour cream
2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1. Cut prunes in medium-size pieces; chop walnuts. Melt and cool chocolate. 2. Beat shortening, sugar, vanilla and eggs together until well blended and fluffy. 3. Beat in chocolate and sour cream. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt into creamed mixture; add prunes and walnuts, and mix to moderately thick batter. 4. Cover and chill several hours; Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls; about 2 inches apart, onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 8 to 10 minutes (be careful not to overbake). 5. Remove to wire racks to cool thoroughly before storing. Makes about 4 1/2 dozen.

PINEAPPLE SHERBET
Made With Buttermilk

Nutritious Sherbet Is Calorie-Free

Here is a dessert you can eat without a twinge of conscience. It's easy on the waistline and nutritious too.

Even with a dessert as simple to fix as this Pineapple Buttermilk Sherbet there are a few do's and don'ts.

To be smooth as velvet, sherbet should freeze quickly. If freezing is too slow, water crystals form and cause a grainy texture. Do not allow mixture to become too solid after it is first placed in the freezing compartment. Beating it when mushy, incorporates air for that light and delicate texture.

Don't fill refrigerator trays more than 3/4 full, because your mixture expands on freezing.

If you plan to store the sherbet for a few days, cover with waxed paper to prevent that layer of ice crystals forming on the surface.

Here is a sherbet that's good as an appetizer, for it's not too rich. Good, too, following a roast, especially if that roast is pork or ham. Whether you serve it to begin your meal, in the middle, or at the end, always use your prettiest glasses, well chilled.

PINEAPPLE BUTTERMILK SHERBET

1 qt. buttermilk
1 cup sugar

1. Blend all ingredients together and stir until sugar is dissolved. 2. Pour mixture into 2 freezing trays. 3. Set refrigerator dial for fast freezing and place trays in freezing compartment. 4. When mixture is partially frozen, turn into chilled bowl and beat until light with rotary beater or electric mixer. 5. Return to trays and allow to freeze until firm. Then turn refrigerator dial to normal. Makes 12 servings.

Serve Biscuits A la Goldenrod With Asparagus

Tender spring asparagus makes a tempting luncheon dish when you serve it with biscuits a la goldenrod.

To the dry ingredients of your favorite biscuit recipe using 2 cups of enriched flour, add 1 teaspoon crumbled dried thyme. Roll out the biscuit dough 1/2 inch thick into a rectangular sheet, 4 x 10 inches.

With a sharp knife or pastry cutter, cut into 4 rectangles, 2 x 5 inches. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) 12 to 15 minutes. Split lengthwise.

Cook 1 pound of asparagus. Lay stalks of cooked asparagus lengthwise on one half of split biscuit and slices of hard-cooked egg on other half. Pour a tangy mustard sauce over biscuits.

Sprinkle grated hard-cooked egg yolks over sauce.

Toasted Marshmallows Glorify Applesauce

Small fry like this: Top applesauce (in a pie plate) with quartered large-size marshmallows and broil until the marshmallows are puffed and lightly browned.
